Thread: HackForums Problems?

Chers - October 7, 2015, 2:59 am

Hello there fellows.

I am wondering why everytime it gets on the 404 error page or something like something with cloudflare to do i guess its annoying when i am gonna post a thread or reply one then i get to that page is there any Problems or like that?

It happens and it's natural. No need to make a thread.

This happens quite often, not really a threadworthy topic IMO.

You do realize hackforums has enabled additional security.

Why does everybody open a thread because of such shit?

Even if hackforums loads 2ms slower than it normally does there are instantly 5 threads about it.

Even if hackforums loads 2ms slower than it normally does there are instantly 5 threads about it. Because people don't know how to read.

Omni could make a huge banner on top of the page about how he was going to make some huge change, and people would still make threads about it when it happened.
