Delevingne - October 7, 2015, 10:52 am

Would you rather have $50,000 Legal dollars, or $100,000 Illegal dollars?

As in: crime money, or legit money.

Sucker for pain - October 7, 2015, 10:53 am

100,000$ illegal dollars, cause i love to blow that shit up partying

SSlueSkies - October 7, 2015, 10:53 am

$50, 000 legal dollars. no risk and still a lot of money ;d Would probably invest in some business.

Regulus - October 7, 2015, 10:53 am

People like to spend money, and with the $100K you cannot really spend much of it.

Dr. Fritz - October 7, 2015, 10:57 am

Well it depends on "how much" illegal lol. But I'd probably take the legal 50k.

Exha - October 7, 2015, 10:57 am

I guess I'd go with the $100,000. I just don't want to know where this money come from.

the 100k.. but honestly it depends on where this illegal money is. If it has anything to do with Banking or shit like that, no.

skelly76 - October 7, 2015, 11:14 am

100k. Then spend it fastt.

Genicus - October 7, 2015, 11:14 am

Legal, legal money is the best money. If 100k is worth years of your life you might be a little slow.

ImPerfectPersona - October 7, 2015, 11:23 am legal 50k, rofl would be excellent

As far as I can tell, you are implying I wasn't caught with the 100k so I'd pick that.
Probably spend it on hookers and crack <3

DougX - October 7, 2015, 12:10 pm

A lot of famous people got their start off dirty money, there's really nothing wrong with it and it's pretty easy to launder. $100k all day. Then you can spend 100k on drugs and turn that into a mil no problem.

Beardsteak - October 7, 2015, 12:26 pm

I'll take the 100k blow that shit on the low cuz.

lcYSeptember - October 7, 2015, 1:42 pm

I'd go for the legal money.

Illicit money:

You can't put it in the bank, as they run all money through a machine which verifies things.

You can't spend properly in a short timeframe. To use counterfeit bills, you need to use them together with other bills. Unless you want to take the risk of thinking whoever is taking your money is young, and/or isn't going to check the bills (with an ink test), you need to use only one bill along with one or more real ones with equal or greater value.

You can't keep it all together. You can deny knowing about a single fake $20 bill in your wallet, but any more, regardless of denying it, you're going to be looked into after being at least detained. Good luck explaining an entire wallet full, much less 100k in your suitcase at home.

With a large amount like that, it's not going to work.

I'd prefer $200 fake over $100 real if it was just offered to me, but with a much larger amount..yeah.

And by large amount, I don't just mean value, but also bulk. The bills would need to be $20, as $50 & $100 are 99% of the time ink tested everywhere. How often do you see a $20 ink tested?

No counterfeit will be 100% passable, as it would take more money to make it than what it's worth.

Wizard?y - October 7, 2015, 1:43 pm

I'd take the legit money and use it wisely and take my time, with the 100K you'd always been looking over your shoulder aha

Idk why a lot of members here chose the illegal 100,000$.

Yuikoro - October 7, 2015, 2:42 pm

I mean it depends on how the other 50k was taken. If it was done in such a way where law enforcement wouldn't know about it (drug money, robbed a robber) then I'd go for the 100. If it's through robbing a person or bank or whatever might carry 50k, then I'd stick with the 50 to make sure I don't get caught.

I don't think my anus will be safe in prison

If I remember correctly, you could just turn the money over to legal by paying taxes on it. I'd assume if you live in a state with no income tax, and switch it over you may be able to get more even once the other taxes are taken out even with income tax you make get more, though just maybe 15k or so extra. I'm not sure if you mean you acquired the money through illegal means or it's just under the table or both, but if it's just under the table I believe it would be easily convertible.

AGC God - October 16, 2015, 3:33 am

Mircale - October 16, 2015, 3:45 am

Legal money is always the best bro.

.r00t - October 16, 2015, 4:20 am

Answer is do you know how to launder it nenakec - October 16, 2015, 5:11 am

Yeah 100k is just twice as much, 50 k is already a lot of money i'd go with that.

illuminati? - October 16, 2015, 5:49 am

100k, wouldn't even question it.

Ted™ - October 16, 2015, 7:30 am lucky. - October 16, 2015, 7:32 am

100k, with that much I think I could work out some type of laundering.

clothduck - October 16, 2015, 8:54 am

$50k Legal. I hate greed and I wouldn't have to worry about my door being bust down at any time.

Money Laundering isn't really easy, as far as I know. I never got involved in it.

??ph??l - October 16, 2015, 9:20 am

100k illegal.

The reason is, 100k really isn't that much. Not enough for a house, or a new lambo or anything. So I could just spend it as cash on groceries for a couple of years (no need to launder), while spending less of my legitimately earned income on necessities such as groceries.

Now, if it were 5 billion legal versus 10 billion illegal, that'd be a different story and I'd choose the 5 billion legal (so I wouldn't need large scale money laundering operations).

?Well, 100k isn't much like I said, and no one would notice (unless you're an idiot and deposit it all in your bank at once).

BLURRYF?CE - October 16, 2015, 9:23 am

The $100K, I'd spend it slowly but surely throughout several years (~10 years).

Adium - October 16, 2015, 9:26 am

The $100,000 illegal cash.

$100,000 is £64,752 - For me that is just under 2 years wages, it's not a life changing amount of money, I wouldn't need to launder it just change my spending, when going out for meals or going on a night out I'd just spend my cash rather than paying from my bank account, this would allow me to save more money. Going forward like this I'd be able to get rid of all the cash and allow myself to save it up legitimately within a few years. I'm an introverted person and don't trust other people with my secrets, I know that I'm not the type to tell anybody about this cash so there'd be no reason to be paranoid about my house being broken into and the hidden money being stolen.

JesperChefen - October 16, 2015, 9:26 am

I would without hesitating take the $100k.

I would still be able to buy a sweet Mercedes for those $100k :D

Delevingne - October 16, 2015, 10:07 am

I think if you pick the $100K, and choose to spend it slow over the years, I think that is really hard.

How are you gonna explain the Mercedes?

Feanor - October 16, 2015, 10:12 am

50k like any normal person would. Even if it's slightly illegal it doesn't matter your still fucked if you try to do anything decent with it because it's such a large amount of money, you'll get proper fucked.

CodeMoney - October 16, 2015, 10:15 am

50k Legal. I won't even touch $100m illegal. I am simple man of taste. I don't need all that money,
