Any tips for me just PM.

Give it a rate in the comments and some constructive feedback.

Just shoot me a PM and I'll give you the link to the dropbox share since I can't post it yet.

P.S. If this doesn't belong here, let me know and I'll move it. Still kind of new to HF

It describes how pumping and dumping works and how you can market it at lower levels too if you don't have much to start.

25th Post!

Honestly the easiest way to start is just take 10 bucks worth of bitcoin and farm it up till you can buyout entire low-end amounts of coins. You'll double your money fast and some people do this as a living.

PMs have been sent with book to those who requested it.

Shoot me a PM with the method if you could, I can't send messages yet either. I can rate it from a complete newbie's perspective. Thanks!

That was quick, haha, thanks. It's very basic, but it's alright. The pictures could use a bit more description and point 3 isn't very clear to me, but it might be just because English is not my native language. There's no mention of possible risk (?) there either, and some practical examples would probably make it easier to follow (ie. concrete values at which it is profitable to buy/sell, just to get an estimation of the rate). I might try the method, but it's gonna be a while before I have any money to invest, but hey, maybe then you'll receive a big thank you :D

Well when you pump up a coin to a higher price, you have to dump it, or sell it all at said price. When you sell a large amount at a time, you will usually have a left over amount because of other merchants trying to sell their stuff at a lower price after the dump.

Also, there isn't one single coin that's best to invest in, but, the ideal coin is one with high volume and low value so you can trade a lot of it in a short period of time.

Good tips though, thank you.
