The support was also one of the best I've ever received (described it to me well and helped me set it up). If you're looking for a good file dropper at a reasonable price, I would definitely recommended this!

There's another file dropper/downloader in the market which is cheaper I believe. That's why "he is wrong". The other one is also FUD instead of 1/35

GLWS though.

Also, is it possible to show like a picture of the scan so we can see it clearly? because it seems you forgot to colour in the detection in red.
