Thread: False claims against me

CrypterOne - October 14, 2015, 6:15 pm

Hey guys so I am here because I was selling a web crypter and a person named Dorreance contacted me and wanted to buy my project. After declining him since he was trying to undercut he instantly goes to my thread and accuses me of another person.

The thread in relation is here: <https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=5022333>

He has made false claims about me and is making my thread become trash now. For some reason a user named damienvc -rep me because of this calling me a "volkoffhttp"

I will update this more when I look into this claim against me edit: I can't find anything related to his post about this volkoff crypter update; He keeps stalling things and telling people he *has something and says he will post it. NEVER ends up posting any proof..

learn to deal with them but nothing you can do the systems fucked and staff don't care

You are making false claims about something just because they look like something else?

Then you should call everyone the same who does stressers...they are all the same but just rethemes.

And do you have a screenshot of your accusation because I tried looking and I found nothing!

Nah I have more conclusion but they have not been posted yet. So you should have this thread removed if I come to a dead in about 2 hours then cool I wasted time.

All you do is talk but never prove anything...sigh. Waste of time

The reputation is just biased here, and we are not allowed to complaint. I got reputation from random guys with random reasons. I even had no relationship with their reasons(it was painful). Just enjoy your life, don't care reputation on hackforums :)

In other forums you may contact staff members for false reputation, but here it is not like that, if you try to contact the situation will become even worse.

Only the way is to get some rich friends here and team up with them. All the best.

This evidence provided by Dorrance shits on you OP.

These aren't false claims, your full of bullshit.

Dorrance is one of the renowned members out there. He would never do this. And he caught you out.

Dorrance - October 15, 2015, 4:31 am

Please don't ever whip your ass with a warning then get shitted on. All you had to do was admit it instead of wasting my time so you called me out with this thread cause first I was gonna let it die then, you proved me.

NoSuchAgency - October 15, 2015, 6:00 am all you did was add more suspicion to yourself by making this thread. Good job, Dorrance.

exploit.c - October 15, 2015, 6:45 am

OP is just butthurt that he can't get away with another multi.

If you believe the posts are violating site policy for sales trashing then report them as a Marketplace Violation. You may find that the posts are just trashing your thread, but they may reveal a bigger picture. Staff will handle the reports accordingly to see if the accusations are true before taking action on either one of you. If Staff finds out you're the person he claims you are, you may be banned for violating site policies relating to ban evasion.
