Thread: Scammed by Milkbone uid=2606611

In milkbones' e-book he offers a full refund "no questions asked". I've asked him for WEEKS now to refund me, and as soon as he say me type 'refund' he stopped replying. It took him less than 10 minutes to reply to me when I just needed help, but as soon as I asked for a refund no questions asked, he disappeared. He's now appearing offline on skype to me, and hasn't responded to my posts on his thread. Multiple people have bought his horrible method, and many have asked for a refund. He seldom responds to any requests for them. Please for your own sake, don't deal with him.

<http://prntscr.com/8rr7p8> Me asking for a refund via Skype, he only messages me once after I ask, and it's so indirect, if he wanted to see my question he had to scroll up 2 centimeters. That was 9 days ago, and he still hasn't replied, and he's appearing offline for me on skype.

Looks like a legit report. By the way, you can expose his PP info in deal dispute, like everything, email, name, transactions id,everything.

He never purchased my ebook.

He gave me a false Paypal transaction ID and email address that didn't match any records on Paypal.

Here's the screens to prove...

OP is probably a competitor trying to falsely accuse me of scamming.

That one worked... I sent you a full refund as promised.

Obviously even refunding this member is proven difficult. ???
