I have recently gone into photography. My instagram is @elijahfreitas. It would be amazing if you could leave some feed back on some of the photos that would be great. I would post them here but I am new to hack forums and do not have 50 total post.

No bad but meh, what kind of camera are you using?

A lot better than a lot of the beginner stuff that tends to get posted online. Keep taking photos, develop a style. Really like the one you took at FrightFest.

Don't. When you start taking photos so that other people will be happy with them, you start to lose your taste for photography. You don't have to take photos that everyone likes.
