Thread: What is the best system optimizer/cleaner?

Mitch - October 17, 2015, 6:45 am

My system is getting pretty cluttered and slow. What software can I use to clean junk files, and optimize it a bit more :D

One of good free programs is CCleaner.

I second the user above. I also use Advanced SystemCare 8.

TFC. or Temp File Cleaner, is a small utility that will clean out all the folders on your computer that house temporary files. The temp folders that TFC will clean are the Java, Windows Temp Folder, and the Internet Explorer, Opera, Chrome, and Safari caches. This tool will clean the folders for all accounts on the computer including the Administrator, NetworkService, and LocalService accounts. You can also read my tutorial to learn how to boost performance of Windows. I also created program called SysPerf to boost performance of Windows and Network. All the Url links are below.

I would take a stab and say, registry related errors.

Barthezz - October 18, 2015, 3:35 am

CCleaner, but now im using the build in 1 click optimizer in BitDefender.

Run JunkwareRemovalTool, CCleaner, Malwarebytes, AdwareCleaner.

Run windows updates, uninstall junk programs that you don't use.

A few Other tools that are generally overlooked are:

Spybot SD (there's a bunch of stuff it catches, that MalwareBytes and AdwareCleaner miss)
BleachBit (As a compliment to CCleaner)

And my favorite: Sysinternals AutoRuns

In fact the entire Sysinternals Suite, is a must -- and because its MS Written, probably the safest to use.

CCleaner and SmartDefrag work quite well together.

Defraggi from the makers of CCleaner is great too!

One thing to mention about SSDs:

DO NOT DEFRAG

All you will do is shorten the life of your SSD.
