How to jailbreak your iOS 9.0-9.0.2 device.

This is for windows only at the moment! Will be updating once it works for OS X.

[img]http://s12.postimg.org/rziazworh/divider.png[/img]

•Step 1: Download Pangu's jailbreak tool here

•It is recommended to backup your device with iTunes.

•Step 2: Turn off find my iPhone. Go to your settings -> iCloud -> Find my iPhone [Off]

•Step 3: Turn off your passcode. Settings -> Touch ID & Passcode -> Passcode [Off]

•Step 4: Turn your device into airplane mode. Settings -> Airplane mode

•Step 5: Open the jailbreak file you downloaded from Pangu's site.

•Step 6: Plug in your cable into the PC.

•Step 7: The tool should now detect your iDevice. Click on the start button.

•Step 8: If you already have a backup on your device click the Already backup button.

Step 9: Somewhere around 55% your device will restart, once that's done turn airplane mode back on.

•Step 10: Somewhere around 75% it will tell you to unlock your device and run the pangu application.

•Step 11: Once you have opened up the app press accept and allow on the popup that follows.

•Step 12: Wait until its done.

•Step 13: You should now have Cydia on your phone. Open up cydia and let its thing.

[img]http://s12.postimg.org/rziazworh/divider.png[/img]

Troubleshooting.

• This is for iOS 9 and not the beta.

• If Cydia crashes after jailbreaking, reset to factory, restore, and try jailbreaking again.

• If this error occurs [/usr/libexc/cydia/cydo error(2)] You need to restore and re-jailbreak again.

• If your screen flashes blue when the Pangu app tries to switch to the photos app and the jailbreak fails at 90%; retry the jailbreak but when asked to open the Pangu app, first open the photos app and do not close it, then open the Pangu app.

• If getting a Runtime error when launching Pangu 9: Go to Program and Features and uninstall Bonjour, Apple Mobile Device Support, and iTunes. Reboot Windows and install the latest version of iTunes.

Got any questions? Post below or send me a PM and i will try to answer as good as possible.

Does anyone find it weird that Pangu has asked in the middle of injecting the jailbreak access to our photos? Trying to figure out for what reason..

It needs access to the phone's DCIM folder (which it can't touch as an app sandboxed without your permission) to be able to write some data for a privilege escalation bug.

You can check Settings>privacy>photos once the jailbreak process is completed. This will show you it's gone afterwards.

Oh that makes sense, found it weird as no jailbreaking tool asked access to our photo directory, but thanks however man. I now have my iPhone 6 Jailbroken successfully without any problem! ?

Yes, there's a tweak called Photo Enhancer i believe you could do that with. Im quite positive that its not updated for iOS 9 though. The tweak gives you ability to move certain photos from the main folder to another without the photo staying in the main one. Once you've moved those photos you want to hide you hide the new folder you made.

edit: im not 100% that this works though.

I'm jailbreaking right now and i'll give it a try thanks!

Just did jB, it is so damn good. Few tweaks i really liked-

Cc settings

Barrel (Bought it)

Reveal menu (3d touch kind of)

Tiny bar

Erbhy4 - October 21, 2015, 12:09 am

Don't know if this happend to someone else, but when i soft-reset (holding down Hom + Power button until restart), my phone freezes on the turn-on logo and I have to Hard/factory reset the device.

Yes it does work! It only works on games/apps that is client-sided such as jellysplash, subway surfers etc etc.

Yeah, just did but the issue was backup as I had taken some important pictures and lost them all

But but should I upgrade to 9.1? (I won't JB anymore for a while)

If you're planning on not to jailbreak then go ahead and upgrade to 9.1, no need to stay on 9.0.1/2
