It may be missing a shit load of options that are on the website, I don't care. I might keep updating this project or I might not. Luckily (or unlucky), I had pain near my upper back/neck today so I called in sick to school. Dedicated that time to try and ease the pain and code this.

Jesus that was fast. You could always make it standalone instead of relying on SatoshiMines.

I love how you say simple.

You didn't even rename the MainForm xD.

However, it actually looks really good, I love the GUI.

Doing that would greatly decrease the code. Just a simple random and other things I suppose.

Added the option to cashout before a game is over as well as fixed some bugs. :)
