Thread: Messages aren't sent on Blue Stacks \(Help\)

HFZhyonn - October 23, 2015, 9:01 pm

For some reason when I use the old versions that support the fake camera on kik messages aren't being sent to and from my account. Does anyone know why? Should I just restart my pc?

IAmNoOne™ - October 23, 2015, 9:16 pm

maybe your account is banned create new one and try :)

HFZhyonn - October 23, 2015, 9:20 pm

I think that might be it. I received a message but when I send them it just shows the s implying that the message is out in the server.

I truly agree with Assist. I noticed that at first, but when I created a new one, it goes as well. =)

See one of my threads i have a solution that may work

LunchMoney - October 24, 2015, 5:53 am yeah im also on the same boat, its weird though people add me and send a message, i reply back and nothing? i guess that means im banned then?, but if im banned how are people adding and messagin me??

Assist:when you say banned you mean on bluestacks or kik?

Multibyte - October 24, 2015, 6:00 am

I often get banned on Kik, just create a new account.

Mr. Dev - October 24, 2015, 6:08 am

You're banned. Make a new one

Exodi - October 24, 2015, 6:09 am

It seems you've been banned.

Fiz? - October 24, 2015, 6:09 am

You're account is most likely banned.

For some reason if you try to run a vpn in blue stacks it doesn't work

What do you mean, are you trying to open it inside it? I am using Mullvad VPN and it's working perfectly for me, you need to open it on your computer, not in bluestacks.

DeadOne1 - October 24, 2015, 7:04 am

Yes, you need to run the vpn on computer. A vpn will evade you from being banned from kik, or anything else.
