What is EmeraldForums about?

EmeraldForums is a general community forum, which involves general discussion, gaming, coding, graphics design & much more. I'm currently looking to make EmeraldForums the best I can and assure you have the best experience.

Why did you make this forum?

I've always wanted my own forum. I love the idea of creating a community and bringing everyone together, and I think if I try hard enough, I can get a community together, whether it's little, or big. It will grow eventually.

More info:

I'm currently looking for staff members, I won't be taking anyone on as that's not good for the forum, I'm looking for specific people, whether it's a graphics designer, web designer, or just someone with a lot of knowledge in forums however I appreciate everyone who signs up and I hope you stay active.

Anyway, I hope you sign up & have a good experience, I look forward to meeting you all, thank you.

suggestions are also welcome!

Also sorry for another thread, the old one was a mess and didn't even contain my URL, this will be the only one.

Took a look at this site a few days ago, gave OP some words of advice related to the Hosting. Good luck with this forum :)

Looks like a nice little forum. I would try add a bit more umph to it. It looks to boring and to plain. Try adding some more style to it and more things that will make you want to stay. I'm willing to help post some stuff.
