Thread: Any Papajohn service will FUCK YOU

SoulHarvester - October 24, 2015, 5:32 pm

Today I ordered from a service that seemed quite legit and mimicked threads I've seen before on other forums where a point exploit was into play and you'd get pizza! As naive as I am I gave the service the benefit of the doubt with out prior investigation of the method. I tried it 3 times to 2 addresses both were blacklisted and caught with-in minutes by the account owners. In case you guys forgot they text your phone when your order pizza usually. (Hint the new pizza emoji that gets you an order to your door)

Long story short that thread (<https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=5032813>) made all of it's buyers commit fraud. I had not only the pizza boy show up but he pulled up with a police car. (keep in mind i had ordered 2 pizzas from two different accounts I had thought were just fake alt accounts) My father is LE so that part blew over quickly because he knew I had ordered the "coupon" off a site and not papa johns. In short they settled with blacklisting my address from there pizza services and consider myself lucky they weren't going to pursue it further. The owners of the actual pizza accounts picked up on this scam INSTANTLY. ?

BEWARE!!!! Seriously I do not want to read about any of you getting scooped up over a stupid ass pizza.

Note that the seller of the service is not intentionally doing it but rather hasn't had hiccups on his end so far or at least he says.

InternetG - October 24, 2015, 5:34 pm

Im from holland, And when i saw these service i thought what the fuck, You can do this without getting caught?
So you can't..

Deany - October 24, 2015, 5:34 pm

wow dude that sucks. imagine being banned from papa johns lmao

FamousHater - October 24, 2015, 5:35 pm and this is exactly why selling these types of accounts is disallowed.

wonder if the seller of these accounts will have his account closed.

Devil Dog - October 24, 2015, 5:37 pm

I've done this multiple times on a military base. You are seriously stupid if you did not change the email or phone it sends messages to.

exactly this.

_Crack - October 24, 2015, 5:37 pm

if i got the cops at my house my parents would skin me alive.

hell if i even ordered a $1 mask theyd kill me

Orgy - October 24, 2015, 5:38 pm

Idk how people actually believe they're going to get these massive discounts without it being fraud somehow lol

Shoe - October 24, 2015, 5:38 pm

Yeah, there's no other way to get free pizza from Papa John's. A Google search yields the entire "method" and its implications on competing forums, subsequently I cannot link posts. It's an issue. I'd honestly add UIDs of anyone selling to the title so people see this when they go to order.

Hi, yes, I'm the seller here posting.
Just thought I should warrant a few thoughts.

Real quickly. Selling cracked accounts hasn't been disallowed for a while.
Feel free to check here: <https://hackforums.net/forumdisplay.php?fid=309> (Not to mention people literally SELL crackers ?)
I'm willing to bet 95% of those accounts in there are cracked and sold.

I was offering the same service. I think it would be common sense that if I was selling 56 accounts(in different denominators), it was clearly not worth my money at 2$/account.

And yes, you are definitely, 100% the only customer I have ever dealt with that has had an issue with these. Over 40 pizzas were purchased from me today, none to have this come to my attention(they must've been hauled off already! ?)

Regardless, I refunded OP for the mistakes and I send my sincerest apologies for him not realizing he was purchasing a cracked account.

thats not that same at all. people in the NFA section are not selling accounts that have balances/credits on them that can be used to buy something without the account owners knowledge.

420 Blaze It - October 24, 2015, 5:48 pm

Ehm no shit, why would you do it.

Grin - October 24, 2015, 5:50 pm

There's many ways of getting free pizza and that thread is by far one of the stupidest ways. One of the reason being the pizza you're getting isn't free.

Any game account has some sort of balance?

People are selling steams, origins, uplays, all which you could spend money from if it was available?

I agree, you can't compare Netflix/Spotify/Etc, but... there are plenty of account types that you definitely can spend one's efforts away(whether it be credits or balance..).

SO in turn I didn't need to think about that did I now? The old method the guy sold alt accounts that all were fake with just the right amount of points. These however I realized were stolen after my first order. And again if the thread had one word in it that said "Cracked account" I think about 80% of those buyers in that thread wouldn't be in that thread. He worded it as $2.50 pizza NOT $2.50 CRACKED PIZZA ACCOUNTS. See why I fell for this?

Now this is a warning for "idiots" like myself who like to read for warnings on anything before they buy something.

Why would you still not change the email and phone number to yours? That's how you get notified of your order.

I agree. This is why I don't get some of the rules of HF. The owner of the accounts obviously paid for the service/subscription and I'm pretty they wouldn't want to share it with someone without their consent.

Devil dog don't you realize my information and the stolen accounts are the reason why I'm even in this mess..

QuickYT - October 24, 2015, 5:59 pm

All they're doing is cracking accounts and using those accounts to order pizza lmao. This has been known and idk how people are getting away with selling these kind of services on HF. Btw, my friend use to do that on the regular and the police ended up knocking on his down like the 5th time, so they're are high risks in just ordering pizza.

s0c1al - October 24, 2015, 6:01 pm

lol @ ordering pizza via HF, use a bit of social engineering and you can easily get a high discount, or a free pizza.

Chicken Shack ? - October 24, 2015, 6:17 pm

Glad you told me that, i have seen a bit of people doing that service as well.

PrivateDonut - October 24, 2015, 6:39 pm

It's simple, order it for in-store pickup only, and don't use your real address, nor name. Because they don't ID you, you just tell them which name it's under. I ordered three pizzas today that way completely fine. If you order it to your house, maybe but I don't know.

Exactly.

I ordered an account with 2 free pizzas and chose in store pickup for the order. After I ordered them I went to pick them up and gave them the name on the account and they handed me the pizzas and I walked out.

Lenchmob - October 24, 2015, 8:22 pm

That's why you should just SE for your pizza's much safer lol..

darkeclipse - October 24, 2015, 8:30 pm

Free pizza is too good to be true. but its fraud to use someones account to get free pizza

Shouldn't matter. You are basically committing fraud if you are using someones account, especially if it stores their card info on it.

You aren't using their credit cards, you're using the reward points they obtain on their accounts for ordering pizza online. Most of them don't even know about the reward system, and haven't used the accounts in months or years.

?hance The Rapper - October 24, 2015, 8:52 pm

Whether you guess they care or not, it's still fraud.
