Hey there! A few pointers:

- receiver is spelt wrongly (sorry for being a grammar nazi...)
- maybe align the fields and make the single line fields same length?
- if I make my browser smaller the form fields overflow from the form background. And even though the background image seems to be responsive in some way, you should make the full page responsive. As it is just a form I think it wouldn't be too time consuming to achieve this.
- Do you have validation integrated?

Otherwise I think your fine :)
