Order came and sold them to people in my work which gave me £150 profit! People have also pre-ordered from me. Looking good! Fixed the rates on my first sheet. This is the most accurate one.

Earnings: <https://i.imgur.com/anLFEsl.jpg>

I found out about this product a few days ago and I've been really successful. I bought 4 of the first item and made a listing on a Buy & Sell group on Facebook. I got people buying it in less than 10 mins so I decided to order more.

I have sold all the first 3 items, and waiting for the last item to arrive. I already have a guy wanting to buy all the stock so that should be easy. However after I made this sheet, it looks like I'll be sticking to my first item as it's more profitable. If the demand increases for item #3 then I may buy stocks and increase the price.

Cons:

Exchanging BTC is such a pain in the ass!

PS. It's a physical item and buyers pays cash.

My last exchange was 10% off site. At 20% I'm still making good profits.

Try circle or coinbase for 1:1 BTC :)

FRANKIE - October 27, 2015, 7:15 pm

Congratulations my man, keep that dough moving!

Thank you! I'm planning on doughing that!

Today's earnings!

I've also ordered more stocks. I'm very happy with this. Edited my Sheets as I swapped the net profit and gross profit around on the photo posted above.

Looks like you have hit a good niche! Lucky! I'm still testing niches to figure out where I can make money.

MonEy - October 28, 2015, 6:30 pm

Nice work man, I need to start investing more time in new projects.

Oh and if you need BTC, I can exchange for 10%. Check my thread.

It's a physical item which is a high demand and the price is too high at the stores. I've managed to find a supplier/wholesaler that sells them very cheap which I turned into a +100% ROI (return of investment)

Thanks man. Wouldn't mind some extra cash. The reason I use 20% on my sheet is the uncertainty of how much the BTC seller is going to his/her coins from the time of purchase. Some demands 10%, 15% or 20%. Added you on my contacts for future reference!

I can see it has good potential.

Yeah, some BTC exchangers are a little greedy, I keep a set rate of 10%. Look forward to hearing from you.

Keep up the good work!

No need for a website. It's a physical item, you see. I sell locally and they sell pretty quick.

Noted, thanks! Hope to do business with you soon, buddy!

It's not a company. Simply buying and selling but I'm able to get +100% ROI.

420 Blaze It - October 29, 2015, 2:48 am

Not bad, but how about the net profits?

ICUP - October 29, 2015, 2:55 am

(Oct 29, 2015 02:48 AM)420 Blaze It Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Not bad, but how about the net profits?

The sheet is wrong. Net profit and gross profit should be the other way round. Anyway, my gross for every 10 items is 120. I spend around 53-54 obtaining the items (item cost, delivery, btc rate) so my net profit is around 66 - 67.
