im just asking why they had to name him Boruto

ps. they just keep leaving plotheoles on the manga/anime to keep milking this series wont they?

I need to watch this. Not in LQ tho lmao. I'll find it elsewhere.

Trailer 8/10.

I just finished watching this movie and was about to post about it. I have to say that it was a great movie. I mean the trailers kind of spoiled it because there was nothing too new, but it was the whole "end game" story that got to me. Even though the anime sucked, had lots of fillers, blah blah blah, it was just nice to follow the story to the very end and more.

As for the name Boruto, although it does sound lame, it translates to "bolt" in English. It was a tribute name given to him in reference to his deceased uncle Neji who's name means "screw". So the name actually has no reference to Naruto whatsoever.

Also I'm excited for the spin-off series. Gaiden is going to be better than Shippuden.

Just finished watching it, thanks again for giving us the link lol.

My opinion it was a pretty good movie. I especially liked the fact that how Sasuke learns Flying Raijin and uses it better than both Tobirama and Minato. Really wish I could do all this ;(. I was hoping the fights would be longer like they are in Shippuden right now. Anyways great movie and I would recommend this.
