Introduction

Welcome to Titan's Express - you're invited to the train ride of a lifetime, across the world along with other Hack Forums members and staff, even Omniscient himself will be there! We want to extend the invite to yourself - the event will last from October 31st - November 8th and will require your full attention. To join in with the fun and if you're able to commit to being around for this time, please send a join request to join Titans and we will accept you for the journey of your life. The event will require you to discuss and post at the very least once a day so please only join if you like 'roleplaying' and mystery games. Thanks.

*This is a planned event and requires you to be online once a day for the time period. Only join if you can commit to this, thanks.
