Thread: Running 20-100 Bots

Webmasters - October 28, 2015, 7:36 pm

Hello,

Me and a friend are thinking about running up to 100 bots, in-between 20 dedicated servers. Some Windows, some Linux, depending on how I can best optimize either.

My question is, would it be worth it? Chopping Yews etc, and mining iron etc. Because I know from past experience you have to monitor them a lot, and ban times vary, from a few hours to weeks/months.

What bots would be the best for this? The IPs would be on different blocks (have thousands of IPs available).

Thanks,

Yes

What would be potential profits from cutting for say Yews on 20-100 bots IYO?

You're not going to make enough to fund 20 dedi's let me tell you that. I know this because I used to bot myself.

The dedis are already paid for. It's with a company I'm doing it with, have free resources he's wanting to use.

So if he doesn't care about using some of his nodes, I'm all for it. 16 core new E3s.

Pastera - October 28, 2015, 7:47 pm

Holy damn, you're going to make a crap ton of money, especially if you use F2P accounts you don't need to purchase membership. I'd suggest collecting the logs every 2 hours or so.

That's what I'm hoping, just gotta work on optimizing a linux desktop.

Cut yews on all of them then and you're fine. You're going to get banned on 95% of them though if you're using public scripts.

What's a good script/bot to use? Don't mind paying for one that'll work well.

Learn Java and code everything yourself, otherwise I wouldn't consider botting at all.

I can code you a custom one for $75 that won't get you banned.

Search Results - October 28, 2015, 9:26 pm

Yea, write your own scripts or pay someone that's good add coding to code you one. It will be worth it in the long run.

That's a very bold claim. And what are you going to do when his accounts get banned?

Problemas - October 29, 2015, 12:09 am

Either make the scripts yourself or pay someone to do it (I recommend TopBot writers in this case).
Don't go the cheap way, do p2p methods and bot p2p because you don't last in f2p.
All you need to bot isn't only vps, you need money and knowledge to start off.

With 50 bots in f2p you would only make 3m/h.

Black???????????????? - October 29, 2015, 12:13 am

Surely there are more profitable money making methods in comparison to cutting yews?

LijpeMD - October 29, 2015, 5:56 am

Just pay someone to write you a private script, and for less ban rates you should really buy membership on all of them.

Webmasters - October 29, 2015, 6:18 am

I've saw some paid scripts that no one has reported being banned on, would something like that be good?

Would be the same as having one made if you aren't banned?

Derpec - November 23, 2015, 7:07 pm

Trust me people have been banned on the ones that you're probably looking at if they're public.

I'd just go with paying someone to make one for you.

Im C O T W - November 23, 2015, 8:47 pm

If your dedi's are free then you will need a private script otherwise you wont make enough to even pay for membership.

Takes a lot of effort to move the logs around every hour tho.

Prayz - November 24, 2015, 7:42 am

you would probably get caught on all of them

Jacobs:% - November 24, 2015, 8:51 am

If ur do this, dont cut yews/mine anything.

I used to run 50 plus bots a day (only getting banned a few) How ? find out a item with alot of marge, anything with low demand but high marge is the best bot thing to do script ur own script or pay someone to do it.

I got a few tips for u if u want, shoot me a pm

Unless you're currently doing this, right now, at this moment, stop giving advice. Their detection methods change by the week, and ban rates are significantly different from a month or two ago.

That's not really relevant to what I said at all. But since we're throwing out random shit.. I'm a bot developer who runs upwards of 150+ p2p bots (never lower than 90.) I extensively test stuff against their bot detection system every week on hundreds of accounts.. And.. I sell lots of gold!

Gr8 talk m8.

I wasn't being a dick. The complete opposite actually. You quoted me, so I felt the need to respond.

I'm glad you can see my intentions over some text though! Keep assuming stuff, buddy.

(Nov 24, 2015 11:03 AM)Im C O T W Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Method will not be leaked until i've had my run with this script, we've found a fairly unsaturated area.

I currently have a hoard of 20 accounts on a script i'm testing for a friend i'm the only one testing it at the moment but i thought i would give you our numbers so far.

each account makes approx 500k gp/hr

Running 7 hours a day all continuous no breaks.

No bots have been automatically moved to the bot detection worlds either.

1 banned within the first day

4 banned after first week

15 are still going to this day. (currently 2 weeks)

We feel that the account where banned while we trained them up to the point where we could efficiently do our main objective. We were pleased that we only lost 25% of the accounts. All where banned during the training phase.

Once i've had my run with this script it will be opened as a premium script on Tribot.

* The main point of this post is that you can have a small/medium bot farm and not lose everything, it depends on the scripter who's actually writing the script, The location you're botting, Luck. *

Post proof of you legit holding 735m, then maybe I'll believe you.

If the maths is too hard I'll work it out for you:

- 15 accounts

- 500k Per Hour

- 7 Hours a day

(7 Hours x 1 Account = 3.5m)

(7 Hours x 15 = 52.5m)

$52.5 \times 14 = 735m / 787.5m$ (If I add the other account)

Unless from lack sleep I'm incorrect but without that as proof then meh, no fake paypal transfers either.

TSAPP - November 25, 2015, 7:44 am

I would just wait until RiD will open the bot to public. Should be undetectable but they want $$$.

Mazing7 - November 25, 2015, 12:02 pm

I personally started with 40 bots around the start of 2007scape. moved up to 120 bots. Was making around $500-600/day.

Good old days when no bot detection existed.

Ran a bunch of vps and had my dad and brother monitor the accounts when I was away.

If the ban rate has gone down in botting then yes its highly profitable.

And if people tell you its a lot of work, think of it as a job.

Clumzy - November 26, 2015, 9:06 am

I would focus more on red chins in P2P since they are rising and at about 2K per chin. I used to bot on my main account with a public bot and lasted until about 93 or 94 running it mostly all the time from 63.
