This site looks really keen, going to give it a go. Good luck with this!

freestlr - November 1, 2015, 4:32 am

For some reason I don't see the images? I don't even see your signature. It just displays a "broken image" icon.

SIM-2306826 - November 1, 2015, 11:47 am

I've made some updates! You can now dynamically change the theme color :)

Chubs™ aka badman - November 1, 2015, 12:22 pm

I have no experience within coding so I don't know if I should join because I don't know anything. Is there a way I can learn some stuff from this site?

SIM-2306826 - November 1, 2015, 12:28 pm

Once we grow more of a member base, definitely :) I'm sure lots of people will be willing to help you!

Chubs™ aka badman - November 1, 2015, 12:33 pm

Just signed up under 'Focus' I've been looking for a nice and relaxed forum for ages. So hopefully this one does the job ;)

SIM-2306826 - November 1, 2015, 12:35 pm

Thanks for joining! I'm hoping we grow big :)

Underworldproblem - November 1, 2015, 6:41 pm

Just signed up, forum looks really nice. I'll be posting more soon.

nathan72389 - November 2, 2015, 8:54 am

there is nothing there.

advertising a forum that has no content is not a good idea.

anyone that is considering joining should be aware of ops other threads where he is paying people.

I will not be joining because it does not look like it will be around for long.

The forum will gain content with the help of members.

I can guarantee you that any big, popular forum has paid for some posts at some point. Look on Post Loop at the large sites doing it. Any site you go to, I can guarantee it has happen. Paying for posts is no where near as bad as importing databases as some other sites have done. HF being one of them.

I appreciate your opinion. If you decide to change your mind we would love to have you on the forum. I plan to run it for a long time.

FRANKIE - November 2, 2015, 3:01 pm

It's a great site, good luck my man.

Evolved - November 2, 2015, 6:07 pm

So, just a quick question. How did you get your hands on the old CodeCommunity database?

SIM-2306826 - November 2, 2015, 7:35 pm

There is a mutual friend between the owner of that site and me. The mutual friend runs some forums as well, and I told him about mine. I didn't get the database. It was just a mass mail sent out by the friend.

stratex - November 3, 2015, 1:14 am

Yeah i was going to enter into this contest but then thought about if I would even be active after entering and I realized I wouldn't.

SIM-2306826 - November 3, 2015, 6:48 am

Thank you for your opinion, if you change your mind you're welcome to join (:

tweety - November 3, 2015, 7:57 pm

Ah, another coding forum. Good luck, you're going to need it.

When it fails, let me know. I'm making a tally chart of failed coding forums.

SIM-2306826 - November 3, 2015, 8:03 pm

Can you honestly tell me what the point of posting is?

If you have nothing good to say, then don't. Thank you.

St?lk?r - November 4, 2015, 5:50 am

I justed joined under the Username Stalker ^__^

Mace - November 4, 2015, 7:22 am make it into a malware forum, where people can share malware related code.

SIM-2306826 - November 4, 2015, 1:41 pm

Thank you for joining!

@Mace, I don't prefer on doing something like that, lol. You can share it in the forums though!

6e756c6c - November 4, 2015, 3:06 pm

Uhh, did you use the HF database leak to send out invitation emails? That alone will deter me from ever joining your forum, on principle alone.

Maybe you didn't though, let me know. :)

SIM-2306826 - November 4, 2015, 3:58 pm

No I didn't. If you look on page 2 you'll see what happened.

Nothing sneaky or shady going on here :)

ALO - November 4, 2015, 5:03 pm

Your forum categories irritate me slightly. You have a "Web Development" sub-section which lists Node.JS as one of the web development languages, rightfully so. But then you have a "Back-end Programming" sub-section which lists "Things used to make the infrastructure of a website such as PHP". How does PHP not qualify as a web development language while Node.JS does not explicitly qualify as a backend programming language? Why do PHP and Node.JS (and Ruby/RoR, etc.) not just have their own sub-sections or sub-subsections under "Back-end Programming"? Why does C# have to be a sub-subsection of the VB.net sub-section - wouldn't it make sense for VB.net to also be a sub-subsection of the .NET programming sub-section? Why is there not a general programming sub-section to discuss things or ideas not specific to any language?

Good luck on your forum. I may end up registering later on, hopefully you take these suggestions into consideration.

SIM-2306826 - November 4, 2015, 5:09 pm

I will take these into consideration. Two of them are going to be done now as I was waiting till I had some time to do it.

SIM-2306826 - November 6, 2015, 3:34 am

Thank you all for taking a look! Keep coming (:

markjack - November 6, 2015, 3:45 am

how to write a new post???

SIM-2306826 - November 6, 2015, 3:46 am

You have to signup before posting!

LoLSeller - November 7, 2015, 12:45 pm

It's a great site, good luck my man.

SIM-2306826 - November 9, 2015, 2:40 pm

Thank you LoL, looking for more opinions.

SIM-2306826 - November 11, 2015, 7:04 am

Just bumping this up.. enjoy.

Verilog - November 11, 2015, 7:08 am

I will say it is a very nice domain with lots of potential.
Good Luck :)
