

Forum: Hack Forums

Thread: Important word file damaged after recovery

raid0 - November 1, 2015, 7:41 am

Hello everyone

A couple days ago, my macs harddrive got corrupted, and i was abled to recover this important report. But when i try to open it, word tells me that the file is damaged and cannot be recovered... what do i need to to now?
thx!

creation_ - November 1, 2015, 11:03 am

Wrong section, but it is possible to recover the document.
What format it is?

raid0 - November 2, 2015, 12:42 am

thx for responding. its a .docx file, here it is. its not in english so it might look strange if anyone manages to recover it.

<https://mega.nz/#!29FiFRjS!oFj2yEAnNdqi6OS9ESEI678PDR6ty88FrFpgYFnpQil>

thx

raid0 - November 3, 2015, 6:38 am

please.. i need this file

Freebooter - November 4, 2015, 1:38 am

If you can open the file in Word, try saving the file in an alternate format. Sometimes, using a format such as RTF or TXT will cause some of Word's codes to be stripped from the document, which often fixes the problem. If Word wont open the file you can alternatively, use a file editor (a hex editor) to manually extract anything salvageable from the file. You can also use products like OfficeRecovery or Ontrack Easy Recovery.