Thread: Goodbye Amazon Gift Card

Great Suggestion - November 1, 2015, 3:10 pm

Edited Version:

I've decided to make an attempt at abandoning amazon gift card.

Why? because i hate only buying things on amazon and trading it for cash (what i currently do)

I would try to sell on hackforums but because i am fairly new the chance of me trusting someone to give me money in exchange for amazon credit is very scary considering all the scam stories i see.

Solution:

My friend on here has been a member on this website for quite sometime. He told me about a website called selffy we read the terms and agreements and they do not allow nudes so instead of posting a zip file for pedos to download and complain about because they cannot open it these are the steps ive taken

1. Upload Coupon (image file) with directions on how to redeem pictures and videos
2. Set price of coupon on selffy (ex. 10 Voucher 10 pictures and 1 video)
3. When Pedro buys they send their email to my kik and i send pictures and videos.

Simple when bought the money will go directly to your paypal, no waiting for pay out days and no waiting for emails from amazon just directly deposited the same damn day.

P.S Unfortunatly this will stop double dippers.

but you can upsell more photos to gain profits and they cant see any person information.

I was out with friends, when I came back home I was eating at Mc Donalds. The feeling was like peeing, but having a poo at the park.

Wow that's actually a pretty smart way to sell things lol. Might try it out in the future when I can make a new verified paypal.

So you just use the public selfy/payivy/sellurs method for your payment?

I tried payivy
When your client makes payment using payivy he recieves receipt from paypal about the transaction with name, email, contact no.
Tip for you : better be sure about the things you post here next time :) ?

Amazon -> Bitcoins = solution

Amazon -> PayPal = money laundering + EU limit 2500 euros = jail time

You can sell your amazon gift cards here man in exchange for BTC
Then you can sell that BTC + a %.

I see profit

It seems to me you're just upset no one trusts you, and the only way to do that is to do more deals so... lol

I find this absurd. You can lift the 2500 euro limitation. What are you talking about? Can someone confirm what you just said here?

Ah guys, are you out of your mind. If you upload your ID and you went over 2500 euros, do you have an idea what PayPal really does with your ID??!

They send information about your income to your National Revenue Agency (yes they did it to one of my friends). And if your income is "big", the National Agency starts investigation because you didn't pay your taxes. One guy here was sued because his hidden internet income!

The second purpose of your ID on file with PayPal is for collectors agencies.

Without your ID they can't be sure about your identity. But if you have a negative balance and they have your ID, they'll just send a collectors agency to kick your ass. (Yes, they send them after one guy in Romania for ~2000 euros negative balance, result from Ebay deal).

Do you live in Monaco, India, Russia or HK? Actually in USA their IRS will kick your stupid ass for $5k hidden income and they'll send you straight to jail, because USA is even more strict then EUROPA when the question comes to hidden money.

Cash is king.

thebignasty - November 2, 2015, 1:32 am

@FaderCatfish: Use google maybe something like "paypal negative balance" and you'll find very soon what they does with your ID!

PayPal report to your local Revenue Agency (in EUROPA) is out of question, European laws require from them to do it, so they'll do it despite your opinion! Its just your National Agency, if they have enough resources to fight such "small" scam. Try with 20k euros and I can guarantee you, that National Revenue Agency and financial police will ring your belts very soon.

I believe that if you use paypal and withdraw on your Bank, your bank income will be reported to IRS! As far as I know, you can't hide from IRS

Too much of hassle for me if I put myself in customers shoes, amazon gift cards are best way in terms of payments, find a legit guy (there are few on hf) who buys on regular basis.
