Thread: Something to think about for New & Small End Gamblers

I love betting, it's fun, and it gives you a feeling of accomplishment when you actually won. Now let's go on the side of losing, for all you new betters or just people who want to bet without having a big inventory.

Losing sucks, anyone who bets know the risks, you can lose your shit in an instant. I've won around $100 in my time, nothing special at all. You got to understand though, considering my whole inventory was around $70 when I started, I was really happy. I never won all my bets at once, it was always $20 at a time. Today I decided I would bet again, and step it up to $40. I wanted to step up my bet just this one time so I could upgrade my knife, well, I lost.

I looked at my knife in my inventory, i started to think I could win back what I just lost easily if I get this one win. 10 minutes later, bam, I lost my most loved item in the game. At the end of that 30 minute period, almost all of my stuff was gone, I went from a $150 inventory to a $5 inventory.

I can't 'bounce back' on this. I lost, I'm 16 and I don't have a job to buy back my skins if I wanted, I don't have any scamming methods to steal other peoples items, I don't do any of that. I lost, nice and simple, and now I have nothing in the end.

I'm not trying to get anything out of this post. If anything, I want to warn new betters and betters with small inventories to watch out and think deeply about what your doing. Let's be real. If you put up your beloved Flip Knife FT Forrest DDPAT, and you lost, how would you feel? Or if you lost your favorite AWP and you had no way of replacing it, how would you feel? Gambling is a fucking blast when you could care less about you losing. It sucks when you lose the items you bought or just loved however way you got it.

To sum it up for you, if you don't have a lot, and you would be devastated if you lost everything or just maybe a few of your items in your favorite game, think deeply about if you really want to bet. What's better, you having that not so good knife, or losing it because you wanted more?

I need a break from CSGO, It sucks looking at your inventory when you have nothing in it after having so much that you liked. Hopefully one day I can replace all my stuff and come back and play without feeling like shit.

INB4:

I realize it's just pixels in a game, but I actually payed for a lot of my items that I lost. I really wish I could get even a fraction of that back.

Thanks for Reading, hope you think twice if your in a risky spot.

Why write this....

- 1) never go all in.
- 2) Learn what % your high med and low bets are.
- 3) lesson learnt this was bound to happen when betting the way you are!

Lesson learned today: gambling is for losers

I won nearly $2000+ on jackpot betting less than $30 in each pot.

I started with 0$. I bought a knife (karam scorched) worth around 110. Bet it cause I'm dumb. Won 800 dollar pot.

Guess how much my inventory is worth now.

Spoiler (Click to View) Literally 20$, dont gamble.

For every 'lol I won 1000$ on this shitty scam site' there are 20 who lost. Except nobody ever talks about that so kids get lured in this shit all the time.

Yeah I've seen a lot of people who just keep betting shit until they eventually get lucky. Never thought it to be a valid strat but people keep proving me wrong.

Next time I'm just staying away from gambling. I wasn't really thinking deeply when I lost everything.

Never bet with your main inventory and never bet big items unless you can financially and mentally afford the loss.
