Thread: Help me decide which colours look best?

Serendity - November 5, 2015, 10:12 pm

Help me decide. I am the worst at this. I have tried red and black and its okay. I have tried blue and black but i dont like it. Are there any other color combinations? Please include hex codes

Usually colors with high contrast is what you are looking for. However, this also depends on where and what.

But what you should make sure of is that the text stands out from the background. And do note that different screens have different colors, meaning what I see could be different from what you see.

Some screens just has bad colors, or better than yours. Which can have a huge effect on how your site is displayed.

Oh and also, next time, please provide links, or screenshots. And good luck!
