I don't understand how people can stick up for this guy what the hell is wrong with you ? You think scamming someone is a laughing matter ?

He scammed me, OP, and so many other members yet he still gets to roam around boasting about his fucked up god damn Stresser bull shit, and how it makes so much money but he goes scamming $120 from op and fucking $60 from me not including more items I had on the account before he stole it back a year later.

He is not to be trusted under any circumstances, and you look at his rep where people are posting "+rep trusted guy" WTF????

You are literally Helping this garbage scam some more innocent new users to this forum... Is this what we have come to now ? Saying someone is trusted yet they have like 50 open scam reports...

He is not your friend, trust me on that no matter how close you are to this guy he will backstab you and run away with your money, I said it first here.

But in all truth, I ask, why do people continue to go through him despite the claims made against him, and continuous pressure?

I believe the Staff and Admin will deal with this properly, and have taken notice of his recent activity.

You're an idiot. That's not Protein Shake. Maybe he's just another user who's fed up with your scamming?

Didn't you threaten Protein with his IRL information too via PM or something? Lol you're a hypocrite, you should be banned, changing my rep back on your pathetic being.

Omni will ban you for making this thread and let ox continue with his scamming unfortunately.

If you have so much money, why are you posting on a fucking forum filled with losers and not enjoying a cruise to South American or some shit? And why the fuck are you scamming pocket change lol!?

Quit crying

You can say i'm whining, or that I am crying like a bitch. But what you forget is that this is MONEY we are talking about. Peoples hard-earned money. If something that you worked hard for was taken from you tell me, would you pursue the person that took it or would you just sit there and let it happen?

Who is he and why should we care?

0x, known also as Nathan has scammed a SHITLOAD of people. Look his uid in the database half the reports against him the users are either closed or have been inactive. That is why it is so hard to make a solid claim.

If you search his UID on google however

" 1125619 site:Hackforums.net "

You will see a shitload of disputes that were not filed into the deal dispute database.

It is your fault for being exposed to such an obvious scammer and not looking into him

Us new members do not know any better.

If you look at some of the threads you'll see a bunch of new members/leets scammed by him who did not know any better.. just like me.

I was at fault and was an idiot for thinking this would be smooth sailing.

We already know he scams. who cares?

He is conducting business as usual here on HF and members are STILL dealing with him despite the fact that he scammed recently. It shocks me that people do not care to risk getting scammed, if you check this members open threads you will see him doing BTC exchanges and just so recently some new posts vouching for the exchanges. That is quite oblivious to the cause as nothing is being done about him. He scams, does legit deals, scams once more and then does it all over again.

Staff do not get involved

I understand they do not get involved and that most likely 0x - is going to walk away clean as he always does. I understand it's just the way things are but I am creating this thread to see who actually care and wish to be rid of him on this forum as he is a plague and is threatening the safety of its members.

You may have seen a thread go up kind of like this, the op requested it to be junked for certain reasons..

Thank you for reading

Hack Forums is a forum for everyone to have discussions about various topics, not a online police station.

The worst part, these quotes are coming from external sources than the actual forum itself.

It's to the point where if you call someone a bitch over Skype, the first thing they have to say is "OMG I'm messaging a staff right now!!!"

What are your opinions on this? I'm just sick and tired of all these babies using Omni and his staff when they get butthurt about stuff.

You posted a half written PM between you and me. Anyway, this isn't the correct place to argue about this.

How about you attempting to pay $200 to get a dox of me? When the information I use online are already out there in many different dox databases? You must be really a skid, the irony is hitting hard on this one.

I'm not arsed personally about this thread or this 0x guy, never heard of him and will never do a deal with him. If someone doesn't check his reputation and any scam reports, that is there issue.

I'm just trying to help you. Omni doesn't take lightly to people causing shit on here. Trust me, I got banned for 3 years and only just recently allowed back onto the forum. ?

As long as members are posting scam reports and relevant reputation given, then the community has done their job. You can't be making additional threads like this.

For your own peace of mind, add the 0x guy to your ignore list, and if he has scammed you, post a thread. Otherwise, I'd advise staying clear of getting involved.

He scammed me, OP, and so many other members yet he still gets to roam around boasting about his fucked up god damn Stresser bull shit, and how it makes so much money but he goes scamming $120 from op and fucking $60 from me not including more items I had on the account before he stole it back a year later.

He is not to be trusted under any circumstances, and you look at his rep where people are posting "+rep trusted guy" WTF????

You are literally Helping this garbage scam some more innocent new users to this forum... Is this what we have come to now ? Saying someone is trusted yet they have like 50 open scam reports...

He is not your friend, trust me on that no matter how close you are to this guy he will backstab you and run away with your money, I said it first here.

I changed my rep because you've become annoying with this shit. I made it clear and voted he should be off this site. You just joined this site and you think you run it or something, you're not special. Ox isn't banned because the staff clearly do not give a fuck about banning him, what do you not get? You didn't shit on me, you're a dumbass who's making a simple thing into a big deal. You lost pocket change and you're obsessed? Grow the fuck up, welcome to the real world.

I agree with you, but since we know the staff doesn't give 2 shits about that, we can take matter in our own hands. He scammed Protein and all he had to do was post on his threads and he got half his $ back and I'm sure a bunch of people weren't scammed because of that. Sometimes you gotta make the best out of a shitty situation. So he's giving back half the money he scams back.....

Why do I need to go beg him to pay me back ? I am not the one that scammed him.

Obviously a lot of people are noticing that this guy is a scammer, but it still doesn't stop new people from getting scammed by him, take OP for example he had no idea what was going on, new to the site saw Ox with all his mighty rep and his awards etc.

Just a quote on another thread which was closed by another user because he was scared of Ox fucking with him in real life, as he has his address so he closed the thread.

Quote:As much as I completely agree with you OP, unfortunately not much can be done about this, he scams and runs away not giving a fuck about anything.

The thing is Staff believe that if someone gets scammed on HF it's entirely their fault, which I completely agree with up until a point. It's a reasonable approach but I have to say it in my eyes anyway is a lazy approach. When you take a look at the deal disputes section you see new ones popping up every minute, and staff simply cannot handle all these accounts and read through all the threads on the deal disputes section and see whether or not these people are actually scammers or the dispute is invalid etc.

But some things must be taken care of especially when it gets out of hand like in this case with this user. He is not admitting to these scams yet there is more than enough proof of him doing it and planning to scam even more on your forum that you happen to moderate. One thing our justice system in real life does better than HF is punishing people who do bad and even more for repeat offenders.

Imo when someone with as high rep as this guy is on your forum with all these awards which make him appear super trustworthy to the new people of HF. It's not a good image for this Forum. And keeping him here although not intentionally, you are in a way supporting and aiding someone like him to go ahead and keep scamming with his Reputation.

Comparing the HF system to the real world system is like the government saying just because you got stabbed there is nothing we can do about it, you should of listened to all the other people who he stabbed and done your research before confronting him. Just as we the people are living in our country where the government is protecting us I believe you as staff should be doing more to protect the community from people who repeatedly scam with no end.

You cannot stop everyone who does it but you can stop the repeat offenders who are more than obvious.

Just my little rant.

Anyway Yeah nothing is going to happen to him man best thing to do is hope no one else gets caught up in his trap anymore.

I already addressed the 'point of the thread'. You're pissed because 0x scammed you. You're an innocent victim of the mafia known as HF and the big boss 0x got away with his goons' support. Let's get rid of the leader so innocents don't get scammed eh? No, you're selfish, this is solely for your personal satisfaction. Admit that at least before I leave your masterpiece. I didn't say it was rewarding by any means, and there was no begging. 50% of money scammed from you rather than 0% is better than nothing. Going back to making the best out of a situation. Like I said, Ox also threatened Protein with a dox and the staff did nothing about that either. The staff have already clearly established Ox is a valuable member or something on here.

This will probably be junked. If you do have a deal dispute then it needs to be marked down in the database. Unless you two can figure an alternative out I don't think there's much anyone can do. What was the trade over may I ask?

But in all truth, I ask, why do people continue to go through him despite the claims made against him, and continuous pressure?

I believe the Staff and Admin will deal with this properly, and have taken notice of his recent activity.

The member 0x scams and still deals and is a 'trusted' member here. People say "who the fuck would deal with him?".

No idea but everyone is still dealing with him and are not taking caution. You can see his vouches go up on his thread lol.

He scams and acts like nothing happens lays low then does deals looks legit and scams again. I was new when he scammed me I did not know anything thus making me vulnerable.

($125) The guy scammed a guy for like 2.3 BTC might I add..

He fucking scams people and uses the money to do more deals he is a scam but he's a untouchable scam.

'no he shouldnt'

look at this fucking shit

when will it stop?

If staff can't do anything so be it. But the members of this site can stop this from happening, if you are a trusted member do not deal with him. If you do, do not vouch for him because you are basically helping him scam innocent new members who are exposed to this. Actually not just new members, he scams old members as well it always is a gamble it seems; but dw guys hes a legit member ! ! ! ! You may say look at scam reports bla bla bla but when you see his rep as a old member and you see RECENT vouches? You never think in the slightest about it.
