Thread: Web/Windows Freelancer Looking for Projects

anotheralien - November 11, 2015, 3:00 pm

Hello,

I'm a motivated, driven web designer specializing in the creation of beautiful, eye-catching static webpages for companies and organizations. I also have extensive experience in app design and in the engineering and technology fields in general as a leader of FTC Team 6613.

Examples of my work/resume:

Contact me on skype.

I will complete any project in a reasonable timeframe using web technologies such as HTML5, JavaScript, and CSS or Windows languages such as C#/XAML. All code written will be optimized, minimal, and commented appropriately.

For further information and additional questions, feel free to contact me on Skype @iPwnza.

*This is a new hackforums account, but I am not at all new to the world of freelancing and development in general. I've been developing since I was 13 and have extensive experience with a variety of languages and projects.

I will create your project for a fixed fee, I don't do partnerships or anything other than fixed-fee freelance work.

Doubt you'll find many people willing to purchase work here, try the market section.

OR:

-freelancer.com

-guru.com

Freelancer.com scammed the shit out of me. Don't have rep or posts for market.
