Take a picture of the PM where he gives you his Skype, and take a picture of his skype username on his Skype, by viewing his Skype profile.

Besides that, doubt you will get your money back.

yes?

before 60$You have to right click on his name and choose "view profile" and take screenshot.

Since everybody can impersonate a name like that.

Just to make sure it's him and not a faker.

Ok?Yeah, that's great.

Sorry for your loss.

Hopefully someone can confirm his Skype

He doesn't appear to be a scammer, more like an idiot who promises something he thinks he can always deliver then realises he can't. Sorry OP.

Anywho, I think he will give your money back but just give him time.

I run <http://exile-stresser.net> and looking to take on another job. I have access to a dozen private scripts, and scanners. I can run the entire backend of the website, including servers, mysql, php, and even making a custom source. Shoot me a pm, or contact me with one of these:

Skype: e.x.1.l.e

Jabber: ex1le@jabbb3r.de
