Thread: what happened in school..

cool027 - November 20, 2015, 4:55 pm hey guys, cool027 here. i just want this thread to be like a venting thread or a let it all out type of thread so im gonna tell you what happened in school..

i accidentally over slept for school because of me forgetting to set my alarm yesterday morning so i was running late.. didnt have time to eat breakfast or anything before rushing to school so i was hungry as fuck and couldnt wait for lunch. so after half of the day went by and lunch time was here, i lined up to get my lunch and some fucking teacher has the audacity to tell me to tell me to let the kids with special needs / autism just cut in front of me.. and that pissed me the fuck off. why should they be able to get lunch first and do shit first? if anything, they should be the last for anything.. i wasnt the one born retarded so i deserve to be treated higher then them. this is a pretty random post but yea it just pissed me right off.. they even get out of school earlier then us.. god damn

I believe if mentally challenged people are gonna get special rights in a public school then they should have their own school.

Agreed. Sorry, but if you don't understand why and aren't nice enough to let them cut then you're the retarded one. So you were a little hungry who cares, they have a disability for their whole life.

"This just in! First Autistic Democratic presidential nominee!"

like how I said democratic? ?

what the fuck is this world coming to.

not my fault they were born retards i mean come on now, i never in my thread said i didnt understand why they were able to cut infront of me, i just personally think retards shouldn't be getting these special rights and should be treated more worse due to their disabilities they are a failure and need to face it haha

They accept your disability, the least you can do is accept theirs.
