It's not letting me install your script for whatever reason.

Hash, for some reason it unstickies threads whenever I use it.
Which is a mod feature....

The News Reports thread is stickied, but after testing it, it posts AND unsticks it xD
I'm fully aware of that. It's not letting me install it for whatever reason, and it says it's corrupt?

Oh damn ahah I know why. Can you send me the form when you post a new reply ? (on the newreply.php page, <form action="newreply.php?tid=5065406&processed=1" method="post" enctype="multipart/form-data" name="input">).

(Nov 21, 2015 07:58 AM)Odus Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) It works, I just tried it. An idea would be to default the relevant links field as the current thread (if not on homepage).

You could also have it report a user's latest reward if they're on the awards page of a profile.
Definitely something I'll add ! Thanks for the feedback.

Try making a new script yourself and pasting the code in it.

Is it just me or are there a lot of "Moderators" on the "showmods.php" page that aren't moderators of anything? Also, for me, on the "showstaff.php" your "offline" that goes next to the staff members names are broken images for me; not sure if that's you or the site.

The showmods.php shows only the section moderators, and sometime a Mentor is a Moderator as well (like Adam) that's why some are listed. Check out the wiki if you want to see the full list of Mentors.

And on the showstaff page, this is related to HFES and not my script.

No, I have like 50 members on my page. Most of which aren't Mentors or staff at all.

They are mods of a forum, like zSerity is the moderator of his group forum.

This script has been updated to be fix a incompatibility issue and to resolve the sticky problem with Mentors.

Does it affect anything in a negative way? Such as loading time.

Maybe like a split second for when I click view new posts but other than that I see no difference.
