Omnicoïn Over

Omnicoïn, an unofficial project launched in April 2014 which grew to become the official cryptocurrency of Hack Forums, has now been dropped. The coin had been struggling for some time despite the dev team's best efforts to keep it afloat. All forum integration with OMC has been removed, this includes the purchasable award and the plugin. On behalf of the HF News Team, we would like to thank the entire Omnicoïn Development Team along with all of Omnicoïn's supporters for their efforts and dedication to the project. >>Source

Interview - Psychiatry \(Click to View\)

Optimized: Hi, welcome to the weekly news interview. Before we get started do you have any shoutouts you would like to make?

Psychiatry: Hey, thanks for having me. I'd like to make a quick shout to our new probation mods, Roger Waters and King of Hearts.

Optimized: So you're quite an old Hack Forums member! How has Hack Forums changed for you?
Psychiatry: Hack Forums in itself hasn't really changed. However we have seen small adjustments over the years. The owner has listened to what we want. Hack Forums went from a very private community to which needed invites to join, to an open community. We have seen some very important members leave over the years, which has been the biggest change. The recent currency made on Hack Forums, being the omnicoin.

Optimized: Interesting response. What are your current views on the Paris attacks?

Psychiatry: It's one the worst attack's we have seen. And on a personal note, I believe it is awful. As all acts of war are.

Optimized: Yes. I think we can both agree it was an awful attack. Do you have any hobbies outside of Hack Forums?

Psychiatry: I am a fanatic about the human mind. I study the human mind whenever I am able to. I find myself watching and judging people. However, I am a fan of the NFL which for the UK is strange.

Optimized: Haha. Quite odd. You're from the UK (like me). Do you feel that being in the UK puts you at a disadvantage at any point with Hack Forums?

Psychiatry: I don't feel that being in the UK puts me at any disadvantages, since all currencies are exchangeable, all websites are universal and most products are virtual. The only real downside is that the time zone difference can sometimes leave the community somewhat empty at times.

Optimized: Indeed; I would agree. If you could add any feature to Hack Forums, what would it be? Why?

Psychiatry: If I was able to add any feature it would be a sensor feature. Allowing your profile to add censors, so that you don't have to see certain words. This wouldn't sensor it for anybody else, but it would sensor it for me, personally. Because sometimes the language on the forums can be a little overused and offensive.

Optimized: Awesome. What music are you interested in and why?

Psychiatry: Over the years my music selection changes. Firstly it used to be rock, heavy metal. Loved it, it would appeal to me at the time. Then It changed to general pop, because it's upbeat and gets me through the day.

Optimized: Who is your favourite artist at the moment and what's your favorite track by them?

Psychiatry: My favorite at the moment is Megan Trainer - All About that Bass. It's ridiculously catchy.

Optimized: If you could go back and change an event that has happened to you, what would it be?

Psychiatry: I would spend more time with my father before he committed suicide. I wouldn't stop him, but I would spend every second with him to make it more memorable.

Optimized: Aww I'm sorry to hear it buddy. What is your favorite section in Hack Forums?

Psychiatry: My favorite section is the health section. With a PhD in medicine and Psychiatry, it is like my clinic.

Optimized: Wow, a PhD! Bet that is good money! So overall do you enjoy Hack Forums?

Psychiatry: I do enjoy Hack Forums, it's eventful, and the people are great. There is nothing I can think of which I would change, the owner has it perfect.

Optimized: Well best wrap things up now. Thank you for coming on. Do you have anything you'd like to say before we wrap it up?

Psychiatry: All I will say is that I hope everybody continues to use the community, and to have a great day!

Samsung Bringing Back Flip Phones

An early 2000's icon may soon see a Samsung led comeback. Samsung has unveiled a classic flip-phone style model to be released next year. Going by the moniker SM-W2016, the idea of the Samsung flip-phone is to keep the style of traditional open and close phones, with the computing power and internals of today's devices. The SM-W2016 will have 64 Gigabytes of storage on board, and pack 3 Gigabytes of RAM. Unlike the flip phones of the time, this one will have not only a rear-facing camera (a whopping 16 megapixels) but also a 5 megapixel front facing sensor. Samsung has not announced whether the flip-phone will see a debut in the United States, but it is speculated to have a release in Asia.

\$13M Coolest Cooler Kickstarter Faces Major Problems

If you are a Kickstarter user who has been keeping up with the site lately, you may have heard of the Coolest Cooler, and its whopping amount of backers. The Coolest Cooler, an innovative blender and cooler hybrid with built in speakers, has garnered some serious support among Kickstarter users, with backers donating a total of over $13 million to the project. Unfortunately for the producer of the cooler, Ryan Grepper, the project has run into major production issues and financial issues. The factory that is responsible for creating the cooler's motor, has gone on strike and remains on strike. Without this key component, no more coolers can be made, meaning the many backers who supported the project will not receive their final product for some time. The manufacturing troubles don't end there, with Grepper stating that not only is the manufacturing company going on strike, but that the company cannot find a suitable replacement manufacturer to make the motors. What backers of the Coolest Cooler may become even more upset about is Ryan Grepper's decision to begin selling the cooler on Amazon for a short amount of time to “keep the lights on,” which may seem like a stab in the back for Coolest Cooler supporters, who will now have to wait even longer for their finished products to be manufactured, despite some of the coolers being sold for the holidays.

Apple Planning on Releasing iPhone 6c

Although the iPhone 5c's release in late 2013 didn't garner too much attention (which was made evident by its poor sales), it seems like Apple is going for a second try, starting with the news of a new affordable iPhone coming in 2016 - the iPhone 6c. Unlike Apple's other current generation models that feature gargantuan screens, this new device will have a much more palm-friendly four inch display. Despite the smaller display, it won't lack in processing power. The chipset used in the 6c is identical to the chipset used in the current generation iPhones – the Apple A9 chip. Although it has not been officially confirmed by Apple, it has been reported that the 6c will not feature some new software add-ons that the current iPhone 6s and 6 plus feature, like 3D Touch.

Fallout 4 Patches Incoming

The Fallout game series has been notorious in the past for glitches and small problems being consistently present in their titles. Fallout 4, amidst critical and commercial acclaim, is no different. However, an update from the developers found on the official blog for the title assures players that updates and patches are on the way. The patches are to be released on Steam first, with releases on consoles to follow. The blog post does not specify which issues with the game are going to be addressed with these first patches, but some of the most common problems with the game have been noted by such outlets as Polygon. A beta version of the title's first post-release patch is set to begin next week.

Dragon Quest Heroes Coming to PC

Earlier in November an advertisement was prematurely displayed on Steam for the game Dragon Quest Heroes. It has now been confirmed by an official Steam page that the title will become available on December 3. The game has been available on the Playstation 4 since October of this year. The official title on Steam is Dragon Quest Heroes: Slime Edition, which will contain the 13 DLC items already available on the Playstation 4 edition of the game. It has been stated by Square Enix that the game's reception in the West will be a factor in deciding the localization of the Dragon Quest series in Europe and the Americas. Dragon Quest is a roleplaying game series that has experienced significantly more exposure in Japan than in western countries.

Sony Working to Make Playstation 2 Games Playable on the Playstation 4

Through emulation, games originally released for play on the Playstation 2 gaming console may soon become playable on the Playstation 4. In a statement to industry information outlet Polygon, a representative of Sony Computer Entertainment of America said the following: “We are working on utilizing PS2 emulation technology to bring PS2 games forward to the current generation”. Specific information regarding titles and dates of availability has been slim, with the most direct clue at the moment being the few Playstation 2 titles that were re-rated by the PEGI Ratings Board in September of this year. It was also later discovered by players that older Star Wars titles bundled with the new Star Wars Battlefront title were not ports of the originals; rather, they have proven to be emulations that recognize the Playstation 4 console as similar to their original Playstation 2 platform. Playstation 3 title streaming is currently available on the Playstation 4 through the Playstation NOW service.

21 Dead in Attack at Mali Hotel

Al Mourabitoun, a terrorist group with links to Al-Qaeda, attacked a hotel in Mali on Friday, killing 21 people and wounding 6. The attackers arrived at the hotel with AK-47s and began to fire at people indiscriminately. Tamba Couye, who survived the attack said "These people started shooting. They were shooting at everybody without asking a single question. They were shooting at anything that moved." The attack was allegedly a response to government aggression in northern Mali. The hotel was host to peace negotiations that morning, which could have been a motivating factor for the attack as well.

High Value Art Stolen From Italian Museum

In a very Hollywood-esque style heist, the Castelvechio fortress in Italy was robbed of 15 million dollars worth of rare art last week. Three thieves, armed and wearing masks, tied up the lone security guard who was patrolling the area, along with one cashier. They entered after closing hours for the museum, allegedly never spoke a word to each other, and removed seventeen paintings from the walls. They made their escape with a car belonging to the security guard. Experts are speculating that the stolen art will end up in a private collection, as most of the pieces are far too high profile to be sold in any legitimate market. Also the fact that the thieves moved methodically, targeting specific paintings, indicates that they were directed by someone else to very specific pieces. The theft is being investigated, and is considered the most serious theft of Italian art in history.

Israeli Spy Released from Prison After 30 Years

After 30 years in an American prison, an Israeli spy named Jonathan Pollard was released. Pollard was convicted in 1987 of espionage, for passing classified information to Israel while working as a US Navy civilian intelligence analyst. Israeli president Benjamin Netanyahu said he had "longed for this day" and wished Pollard "a lot of joy, a lot of happiness and a lot of peace." Though he has asked to return to his wife in Israel, the United States has set conditions that he must stay in the country for a period of five years. During that time he will be required to wear an electronic bracelet monitor, and be subject to constant inspection and monitoring. Mr. Pollard has obtained a job in New York, and will begin work within a few weeks.

Great Sadness

It's official, the end of Omnicoin is finally here. As this might not come as a great shock to most, Omnicoin was a project kept together by the Hack Forums community.

On November 18, 2015 Omniscient announced that the Omnicoin project will be no longer. Here are some changes that will occur in the near future with Omnicoin: The OMC award is currently removed for purchase

The OMC address plugin has been removed

Omnicha.in will expire on January 5

Paid nodes will be shut down

Pool.omnicoin.net will be shut down

Bittrex will remove OMC from their site

The posts in the Omnicoin subforum might get a prefix then moved into the main Cryptos forum.

Omniscient states that he has no regrets and greatly appreciates the community involvement in the Omnicoin project. Abraham Lincoln, a member of the Omnicoin development team tells me over an private interview that he will miss the Omnicoin project but is happy that Omniscient is proud of their accomplishments. One of Abraham Lincoln's favorite memories while working on the Omnicoin project is the 51% attack where an anonymous user reached 51% of mining power and was able to manipulate the network with 'double spending' attacks. Though the Omnicoin project is ended, Abraham Lincoln tells me that he has no regrets; "Omnicoin was the reason I developed a passion for web development. Without Omnicoin, I wouldn't be who I am or where I am today". There has been talk that a few members may continue to perpetuate the Omnicoin project despite the recent changes. As of now these are just speculations as we will have yet to see if new leaders emerge to keep the coin afloat.

We at the Hack Forums News Team would like to extend our gratitude to the team members of the Omnicoin project: Abraham Lincoln, Crypto™, Doctor Blue, Meshcollider, Magicmann and Omniscient; We thank you for your years of service.

Weekly HighlightsGreat Sadness by Omniscient

Happy Thanksgiving!

Get off the computer for once, turn off your phone(s), and go spend time with your family and friends. We should be doing this daily but it's okay, us hackers can get special treatment. Stay safe and cautious, enjoy your time with family and friends, and hope you have a great weekend! Oh, and don't get too fat. :)

Battlestations is a quick section of the HF News featuring two battlestations, which is a picture of a computer/tech setup. Members of Hack Forums can take a high quality photo of their computer setup (please make sure it is a clear and quality photo) and send it to me in a PM by clicking here and including an IMGUR link of your battlestation. If there are no submissions for that week, I will grab two battlestations from /r/battlestations.

The fact that a "Writer" just used such poor grammar ('You "was" missed') is a testament to my earlier comment. But y'know what? You might be right. It might not be asinine laziness - however if it's not that, then it's definitely insubordination somewhere along the Writer chain of command. I'm not bothered - I couldn't care less about being in the news. I'm just highly unimpressed at the severe lack of "moxy" for a "News Team".

"Insubordination somewhere along the Writer chain of command"? It's up to the writer of the section whether they include you or not. Point being iHydra leaves it down to us to decide whether you're in or not most of the time. Your point is irrelevant - iHydra isn't to blame. You've gone a pretty long way to slate the HF News Team given the fact that you're not actually bothered. I'll wrap this up by saying leave it be and you'll be included in the next edition. I don't see the need for this to continue.

clothduck - November 26, 2015, 1:17 pm

This weeks news was great. Most crypto coins fail because they offer nothing new and are basically pump and dumps. I never understood the point of them anyway. It's hard to find places to spend bitcoin never mind vanity coins. Most of them limp along for far too long before being put out of their misery. The devs did a great job though and are happy that they gained experience an knowledge that can be put to use in something worthwhile.

It might not be asinine laziness - however if it's not that, then it's definitely insubordination somewhere along the Writer chain of command. I'm not bothered - I couldn't care less about being in the news. I'm just highly unimpressed at the severe lack of "moxy" for a "News Team".

LOL look at this guy do you feel better now that you made the hacker forums news?

I hope your feelings weren't too tarnished :((
