So this was featured this morning for me.

Basically they add 2 "funny videos". One on top, one on bottom. Then play them at the exact same time (like you can actually watch both) and you judge what is better.

Vines idea thrown down a toilet.

Look at their instagram for super dumb examples.

Wow it's made by Red Bull too. I thought it was just a company name, but it's really them.

I don't like the fact that you're forced to watch two videos at the same time.

I agree. It should show one, then the next. It's hard because if you miss the funny part of one when your watching another, then you can only vote based on what you saw.
