

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: [\[FREE FOOD\] I'll Deliver Any Food To You \[FREE FOOD\]](#)

B4ROT - December 2, 2015, 5:27 pm

Eligible for US Residents only.

Code Why I Deserve Free Food:

Where I want It Delivered From:

Will I Post Pictures:

Pick any place near you that delivers food and I'll get it delivered for you. I'll pay the delivery fee + food fee, so long as it does not exceed $20. I will pick a winner in 45 minutes. Best of luck to all users.

Trust - December 2, 2015, 5:30 pm

Why I deserve free food:

Why I deserve free food? I can't really say I deserve anything. That's really for you to decide. Why do I think I deserve free food? To be honest, it's been a rough couple of years. My mom had to leave her job two years ago due to pain and, although she could barely do anything around the house and stayed in bed, was denied disability. This caused my dad to have to work two jobs and I only really got to see him on the weekends. A bunch of other crap happened and two years later (now) my dad lost his job of fifteen years about a month ago and that forced my mom to get a job, even though she is still in pain daily. The thing about this new job is that it's a traveling job, she just came home after a month of not seeing her for Thanksgiving and now she is leaving again. My dad seems like he is slowly losing sanity and there's always a depressing feel around the house. On top of that, school is awful and the girl I'm in love with loves someone else. I think I deserve this because I'm still holding on after countless thoughts of suicide and depression and I'm still doing my utter and absolute best to give back when I can and keep a positive attitude so others don't have to feel the way I feel all the time. I like to order chicken wings as it's comforting, but I never have the money and often ask users on Hack Forums for money, which really hurts as I used to be the one giving away almost everything I had all the time. I could just really use some wings right now and it would mean the world to me if you could help me out. Just trying to get through these next few months one step at a time until I can leave the house and become a United States Marine in July.

Will I post picture proof once received: Yes. Most definitely.

Where do I want food from: A place that has chicken wings. I will discuss this with you if I happen to win this as I need to know if they're open or not.

B4ROT - December 2, 2015, 5:35 pm

(Dec 2, 2015 06:30 PM)?rust Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Why I deserve free food:

Why I deserve free food? I can't really say I deserve anything. That's really for you to decide. Why do I think I deserve free food? To be honest, it's been a rough couple of years. My mom had to leave her job two years ago due to pain and, although she could barely do anything around the house and stayed in bed, was denied disability. This caused my dad to have to work two jobs and I only really got to see him on the weekends. A bunch of other crap happened and two years later (now) my dad lost his job of fifteen years about a month ago and that forced my mom to get a job, even though she is still in pain daily. The thing about this new job is that it's a traveling job, she just came home after a month of not seeing her for Thanksgiving and now she is leaving again. My dad seems like he is slowly losing sanity and there's always a depressing feel around the house. On top of that, school is awful and the girl I'm in love with loves someone else. I think I deserve this because I'm still holding on after countless thoughts of suicide and depression and I'm still doing my utter and absolute best to give back when I can and keep a positive attitude so others don't have to feel the way I feel all the time. I like to order chicken wings as it's comforting, but I never have the money and often ask users on Hack Forums for money, which really hurts as I used to be the one giving away almost everything I had all the time. I could just really use some wings right now and it would mean the world to me if you could help me out. Just trying to get through these next few months one step at a time until I can leave the house and become a United States Marine in July.

Will I post picture proof once received: Yes. Most definitely.

Where do I want food from: A place that has chicken wings. I will discuss this with you if I happen to win this as I need to know if they're open or not.

Thread closed. This user wins hands down. Story really got me where it counts. Contact me for further information.