Thread: Forgotten.io - General/Leaking Community

Noha - December 4, 2015, 11:27 am

Forgotten is a community dedicated to sharing experience, information and resources to help each other toward their goal of perfecting their craft. This site was built upon the principles of each one, teach one and the free sharing of information. We are only about a month old but we are growing slowly but steady.

We are also hosting an "Upgrade" contest until Christmas, if you make 50 posts (25 for members with an upgrade here) you will be given an upgrade to "Legend". Hope to see some of you online soon!

forgotten[.]io :D

I'm sorry that was not the effect I wanted to give lol, as for the activation email what email address are you using? Also I'll manually activate your account, just need username.

Activation email went into my junk folder just so you're aware. I've registered anyway. Looking good, no niche though.

A tip: using resources from another leaking/general discussion's community CDN isn't smart.

Should be fixed now

I do encourage members to leak content that is not overly saturated however when they do I don't feel the need to remove it as it is a resource. I admit I have leaked a few things from other forums however I am unsure from where as they have been sitting on my hard drive for a while. As we grow you will see a lot more original leaks :D

Lmao I do not know what I was thinking when I sent that. Didn't realise we where, I see it now and am fixing it. Thank you for pointing that out Another forum with that nulledbb leaked theme? Are you even trying to create a successful forum?

You signed up to the forum just to trash people in the showcase forum, find a better use of your time. Funny how nulledbb is the site everyone's mybb site is being compared to, sorry but they do not own html and css.

ADSL - December 9, 2015, 1:59 am

Now it just redirects to nulledbb, what's going on?

The owner "Firestorm" gave up on the forum and redirected it else where, and did some other stuff so I took over all the accounts associated with the forum and I now own it instead of co-owning it. So in short the forum is up and running once again, in light of what has happened there will be giveaways and some new shit coming to the site :)

Noha - January 3, 2016, 9:42 pm

Wish I could update the thread title but it does redirect

Noha - January 23, 2016, 2:35 pm

We are live again with a different theme. We now have a custom upgrade system, new postbit, restyled index, and much more so come show us some support and get the forums lively again :)
