The niche idea doesnt really matter. The execution is what you need to focus on.

How can it not matter?

I made ~$2000 in 1 day by picking a very unique niche and being the first person to do it. It got really saturated fast as people copied me but I would say the niche is everything. Obviously you still need to advertise and get traffic etc.

Im saying that because a lot of people think they have to have the "unsaturated" niche then give up.

Good luck with your journey OP.

Try creating a nice LP and drive traffic to it.

I would suggest that you join adludum then. They have very customizable landing pages you can use.
