Hey everyone so didn't see anything on this but have a read and let me know your opinions
Something similar to counter strike

<http://na.leagueoflegends.com/na/site/2016-season-update/champion-mastery.html>

"Later in the new season, you'll be able to earn Mastery Chests and Keys as you team up and compete with your friends. Upon acquiring (and combining) the two, you'll be able to unlock the chest, earning loot items ranging from 7-day rentals to permanent skins and champions.

You'll have the chance to randomly pick up Keys and Key Fragments after each win. Playing with your friends will result in getting a few more keys than going solo and, if you've got the right kind of friends, wins should be easier to achieve as well! Once you pick up enough Key Fragments, you can convert them into full Keys at the crafting table."

Just me that thinks this is really good? I mean, i've been playing alot more normals than rankeds, and i usually play with my friends, so this is going to be good. Just wondering if its gonna have any impact in the community...

I think so :) Probably still be toxic but you might see more of it coming from groups of friends rather than individuals lol
