Thread: [\[Free | Easy | Tutorial\] Auto responding to new Kik chats!](#)

Feeze - December 12, 2015, 2:13 pm

Introduction: Hello HF eWhoring Community. Today I'm going to teach you how to automatically respond to all those new chats you have to copy & paste your way through. Best part is, it's free!

Tools you will need:

A brain

An internet browser

Bluestacks v1

Step 1:

Download and install the free 45 day trial 'Macro Recorder' program from this link:

<https://www.jitbit.com/macro-recorder/>

This is a good program and if you like it in the end I recommend buying because you can make custom macro scripts for anything, not just Kik and/or eWhoring.

Step 2:

Open a notepad.exe or whatever text editor you use for your usual code and paste the script from this link: <http://pastebin.com/wec0cFQV>

Save the text file as something along the lines of 'autorespond.mcr'

Step 3:

Open your newly installed Macro Recorder program, go to file>open and open the new .mcr file we've created.

Step 4:

Open your blue stacks, keep it at it's default size, and get some new chats going. Once you've obtained some new chats move the bluestacks program as closely to the top left hand corner of the screen as you can without hiding any of the Bluestacks application.

Step 5:

Get the first message you typically paste to people in your clipboard so it's ready. Then, press the blue/gray button that says "XX New Chats" located at the bottom of your conversation list in Kik. It should open the "New People" section which is right where we want to be to start the script.

Step 6:

Finally, with bluestacks open over top of everything else, open your Macro recorder. On the "Play" button to the right there's a little arrow pointing down. Click it, then "Play X times". Depending on how many new chats it is, is how many times you'll play the script. If for some reason you don't know, set it for 20 and when it starts to get done you can press CTRL + Q to stop the script.

Edit: An account has been provided from another member for a free account to the Macro Recorder program

Additionally, if your trial ends, you don't like all the work put into setting this up, or you just have some extra money; I highly recommend looking into this Kik Macro Suite from HF user Toxy:

Sorry, I've had this method of auto responding since I started with a few minutes on Google.

Nice post bro! As well it is easier if you have a gaming keyboard with software to make a macro.

Thank you, and I'm not sure as I don't own a gaming keyboard.

wow That's awesome

Thanks You so much for sharing
I guess I really need this one

Amaznn - December 13, 2015, 3:38 am

So i was thinking about creating a skype group to share our buyer conversations. The metadata from those conversations would be priceless in creating scripts.
