Thread: What headset do you guys use for gaming?

CRT - December 16, 2015, 3:38 pm

I recently got some Astro a40s as my Tritton 720s were fudging up...basically I could only hear out of one ear. I'm just a casual gamer only playing in my spare time. I was gonna go for the PX4 Turtle beaches but for a few extra $$ I opted for these.

Here a some pics ?

Spoiler (Click to View)

What do you guys use? Post pics if possible ?

ActiveSeller - December 16, 2015, 8:41 pm

I am using the Sony PS3 wireless earphone. Quality is good but i don't think i will get another wireless earphone anymore once this one is dead, due to the troublesome of needing to charge it daily.

Yellowdock - December 16, 2015, 9:22 pm

I don't use any right now, but definitely may invest in a pair sometime in the future.

Sheeple - December 16, 2015, 10:30 pm

Turtle peach px22

Looking to get Astro's soon

big dick rick - December 16, 2015, 11:58 pm

Razer Kraken Pro Neon's. They're okay.

Premortal - December 17, 2015, 1:10 am

I've been meaning to buy an actual headset, but for a long time I've just used an isolated microphone with some decent earbuds plugged in. If I'm being honest it's probably been the most comfortable setup I've ever had, mostly because I've never owned headphones (gaming or otherwise) that didn't start hurting my ears eventually. If I was to look into a new headset to buy I'd probably look to Corsair's gaming line first since pretty much every other product I've bought from them has been decent, but I doubt that'll be any time soon.

Redwall - December 17, 2015, 1:15 am

I use some X0fours Turtle beaches.

biscuit deluxe - December 17, 2015, 1:17 am

Picked up a HyperX Cloud II and it's definitely a good choice for its price.

GrandpaSherman - December 17, 2015, 1:19 am

I used to use Sennheiser Momentum On-Ear headphones but now I use Sennheiser Momenum Over-The-Ear Headphones.

Formant - December 17, 2015, 1:20 am

Astros all the way.

I've owned the A40s before, have the A50s now, and I absolutely love them. No other headset touches them tbh.

FreddieMercury - December 17, 2015, 1:20 am

Please don't buy overpriced 'gaming' plastic made by Astro, Turtle beach, Razer, etc.

Get real headphones: Sennheiser, Audio-Technica, etc.

Gilbo - December 17, 2015, 1:30 am

I use Logitech G430 for gaming.

arfafaqf - December 17, 2015, 10:20 am ill use anything thats not branded gaming

The Jacka - December 17, 2015, 10:20 am

Turtle beaches xo ones that i didn't social engineer

xenko - December 17, 2015, 6:20 pm

Kraken Pros. They're terrible.

Kiyoshi - December 17, 2015, 6:35 pm

The one and only - Sennheiser 363D =)

Prince™ - December 18, 2015, 4:32 am

Steelseries Siberia V2 Frost Blue edition.

(For the win!). It's pretty good. One of the perfect headsets you can use for gaming purposes.

2077 - December 18, 2015, 5:24 am

Planning on buying the Logitech G633.

The GRim - December 18, 2015, 5:26 am

Siberia v2 blue.

Really good and no hair fall too.

Cooligan - December 18, 2015, 5:34 am

I use the $150.00 version of the original three Turtle Beach headsets that came out long ago.

Pretty sure it's called the xo seven.

Creepy-is-Trash - December 18, 2015, 8:05 am

I used to have the Sennheiser PC 350's until the sound started to cut out in one of the ears. Now I'm running the A40's with the mixamp and I love it.

Darwin23015 - December 18, 2015, 9:08 am

I use Creative headset. The sound is really good.

Gem - December 18, 2015, 9:13 am steelseries siberia v2 heat orange yes

mural - December 18, 2015, 9:20 am

I have Astro A40's first pair broke but this new one hasn't yet (2 Years)

Purest. - December 18, 2015, 9:51 am

Logitech G430's I'm happy!

Work good and mic is badass.

Underworldproblem - December 18, 2015, 12:20 pm

steelseries 9h wbuu?!?!!

they are op, recommend them to anyone, cheap too

T7Amaazee - December 18, 2015, 1:14 pm

i got logitech g430's very good headset and pretty cheap

BobsNana - December 18, 2015, 1:39 pm

Logitech G930, pretty pricey but they're good for sound on games which require surround sound (CS:GO etc.) and they're also wireless. I'd certainly recommend them OP.

GoodMorningNadal - December 18, 2015, 7:18 pm

I use the regular apple headset lol

Most people buy those because they use them for only consoles or they don't know much about getting a standalone mic with a separate headset and then using an audio interface.

young dagger dick - December 18, 2015, 7:21 pm

Logitech G430, really nice headset and does the job very well.

KushForPrez - December 18, 2015, 7:45 pm

My lovely Logitech G933 is all i need!

Perfect sound, Surround and a great UI for settings

br1dge - December 18, 2015, 10:47 pm

I use a pair of Kingston Hyper X Clouds. They are honestly IMO the best bang for your buck when it comes to gaming headphones. They sound amazing, the mic is very clear, and they are very comfortable. Plus you can't beat the red and black color scheme.

RaidenHF - December 18, 2015, 11:28 pm

Astro A40's are what I use. Amazing!

-Apache- - December 19, 2015, 1:10 am

I got a Hyper X Cloud II last Christmas and its still going strong. Great and affordable headset.

Alex - December 19, 2015, 2:18 am

For gaming I use Logitech G933

Casp?r - December 19, 2015, 11:00 am

I'm currently using a HyperX Cloud for gaming, but I prefer my Siberia v2s.

Simply Gamer - December 19, 2015, 11:03 am

I use Sennheiser 363D for my gaming experience , I love the 7.1 button toggle

Domyos - December 19, 2015, 11:04 am

Razer kraken chroma edition, pretty good headsets.

webdev77 - December 19, 2015, 11:05 am

For all of you with the Siberia V2's, does the mic suck that bad or are there some software settings that can be used to reduce noise?

Supreme.tm - December 19, 2015, 11:13 am

Turtle Beach X10 for xbox 360. I need a better one.

IPhones - December 19, 2015, 11:37 am

Turtle Beach BO2 theme (it's really bad) like when I listen to music you can hear it so loud from outside the headset but all I can afford rn

Overcome - December 19, 2015, 12:06 pm

HyperX cloud II, finally upgraded from my 4-5 year old TB X1s

Sustainable - December 19, 2015, 1:44 pm

I personally think that sennheiser game zeros are perfect for gaming headsets right now

CyberneticTitan - December 19, 2015, 1:48 pm

Audio Technica AD700X + ModMic

zoiners - December 19, 2015, 4:19 pm

Turtle Beach stealth 500x.

Wouldn't recommend anything else tbh.

Froggy - December 19, 2015, 6:24 pm

I currently use the Sennheiser PC 363D. I would never use anything that isn't Sennheiser. Turtle Beach, Astros, Razer, etc are shit, you're only paying for their logo on plastic.

qrzor. - December 20, 2015, 9:10 am

I use the headset that's been given along with my iPhone so namely an apple headset.

Spooky White - December 20, 2015, 9:35 am

Use to use Turtle Beaches p11 but now I have a ps4 and I'm not even sure if it's compatible.

Best Buy - December 20, 2015, 2:08 pm

Hyper X Cloud II, best headset for its price

Bulbmin - December 20, 2015, 3:41 pm

Steel Series Siberia v2. It's honestly just OK. The cord gets tangled super easily and the sound quality is not much better than my turtle beach x12s that I got for half the price. Looking to upgrade soon!

Dragnite - December 21, 2015, 4:49 am

I use a Logitech G230 for my PC and Razer Hammerhead Pro or Afterglow LVL 5+ for my PS4, considering buying something new for PC/PS4 use as the Afterglow is starting to die and my Hammerhead Pro's have a buzz in one headphone but I'm not sure of what I'd buy.

Dazzee - December 21, 2015, 6:53 am

I've had a pair of A40's for about 4-5 years now, they're great. I also own a pair of Turtles which are quite good. When I decide to upgrade again, I'll probably do a little more research and find another brand.

Aidan. - December 21, 2015, 6:56 am

I use Turtle Beach P11s for PC and regular xbox mic for the one.

PhillyScams - December 22, 2015, 3:12 pm

Razor Krackens are good. A40's for anything tho

Vitani's Mate - December 23, 2015, 8:21 am

I am using my Turtle Beaches XL1's. :D

They are not bad. Once they break, I will probably upgrade.

Renestey - December 23, 2015, 10:48 am

I use the Turtle Beach Z22 headset, paid roughly 65€ for it and it is well worth the price. Comes with an amplifier for game sound, chat sound, tremble, bass and the option to connect your phone via cable for calls/music. After 2 years still works flawlessly. A buddy of mine recently bought the new version of the headset - Turtle Beach PX22 , has some new functions and costs less than the previous model.

I've got a Corsair Vengeance H1500. Never used any others before that only Razers but I prefer this one over it.

Villxin - January 11, 2016, 3:18 pm

I use the cheap Turtle Beach x12 headset. It's not the absolute best but it does what I need and gamestop only charges $5 for the warranty. Every time it breaks I just take it back for a new one and replace the warranty.

x2NaTe2x - January 11, 2016, 6:45 pm

Logitech G35. 10/10

The mic on it is better than most headsets out there so I don't really need a separate one.

Do you use them w a mix amp or on their own?

Untold - February 22, 2016, 7:07 pm

I use the Astro a40's with a mixamp as well. I have turtle beaches x32 and they lasted pretty long, I Just don't like dealing with batteries so they're sitting there useless. Astros are great for me.

Banana - February 22, 2016, 7:08 pm

HyperX CloudII (red) headset is the one I'm using...Used to use turtle beach px22s but it got really uncomfortable after a while

Alice Dee - February 22, 2016, 7:23 pm

I use the HyperX Cloud II

Crispy Chocolate Cookie - February 23, 2016, 1:35 am

I use a SteelSeries Siberia 800, it works very fine. Before I used a Triton 720+ but I don't like it (too fragile and the sound is not very good) pikachu_pika_x3 - February 23, 2016, 8:01 am

Hello.v4.0 - August 23, 2016, 10:20 pm

Siberia 200. Don't care much about audio quality (though they do sound excellent), but more how comfortable they are to wear over a long period of time. Used Siberia v2 for 3 years before that set broke.

The sound is lovely, even with 7.1 turned on. But, the mic isn't the best.

Here bruh <http://vocaroo.com/i/s1xkVlxGN95O> I'm kinda sick rn.

imo' the best sounding gaming mic goes to Plantronics 788, but the headset itself isn't the best from what I've read on Amazon reviews.

Astro A40's, best thing I've purchased in a while.

B?ker - August 25, 2016, 10:19 am

I currently use Astro A40, with a noise cancellation addition

Dowls - August 25, 2016, 12:32 pm

Plantronics 788, great for PS4 and PC. The only issue is the fact that the drivers are not 100% compatible with Windows 10.

The Destroyer - August 25, 2016, 1:29 pm

I know they are a bit old now, but I use Astro A40's. They have been good to me over the years and still work how I want so I will be keeping them for the foreseeable future.

AzCh - August 25, 2016, 11:43 pm

Currently use the Logitech G430's. Pretty satisfied with them, virtual surround sound. I only game on PC as I don't have the newer gen consoles but I'd probably go for Astros for console gaming.

Kyzz - August 26, 2016, 12:31 pm

Turtle Beach PX22's, but since mine are broken in half i'm going to be buying the RAZER Kraken Pro eSports White.

Logitech G930.They are really good and the 7.1 profile they have is quite nice.But they are heavy in comparison to other-newer headset because of the battery they carry.

Turtle Beach Ear Force P11

Cheap but good for the price. It has got huge basses (if you set it up that way), I like it with music oldhead - September 10, 2016, 10:47 am

When I used to game competitively on the 360, I had the Turtle Beach X41s ($200). I had to buy a newer set of Beach's though because I had like 10 talk back cables that didn't work, and seeing that they don't make those anymore, (that I can find) I had to go and spend another hundred bucks.

Panic7700 - September 11, 2016, 1:37 am

Razor Kraken Pro :)

Great headset, bit heavy though.

SUI-3183372 - September 11, 2016, 3:10 am

Had a Logitech G35 for 3 years before the ear pads began tearing and the cord began to fray.

Loved it, but decided to try a new headset when I replaced it.

Gamescom 780. Terrific headset, not as durable as the G35, but sounds great and people say my mic quality is very good.

Sure, there are plenty of fixes out there but I just bought a new mic.
