Recruitment

Our recruitment will work a bit different than the traditional approaches.

We will have multiple recruitment waves, each consisting of a riddle/challenge, everyone besides blacklisted members can join them.

The first one solving said riddle or challenge will become a DARK member if he agrees with our rules and targets.

User told me to tan myself till I'm black and I could join.

He then declined my invitation, it depresses me.

In all seriousness, hope to see some good things come out of you Razor.

Darkwin - December 16, 2015, 9:30 pm

This is my group and i'm the owner, Even though OP doesn't want to admit it. <3 jk jk

Where's my invite though? Wish the group the best.

Obviously if there is something we're missing it likely has to do with:

Quote:everyone besides blacklisted members can join them.

EDIT - guy above me posted as I was posting, what a series of mixed messages.

Griev?us - December 17, 2015, 10:18 am

Since 5 people are done, I'll go ahead and post the challenge.

On razors profile is darkhf.com

If you inspect element "it works" you'll find a odd text in the header. That is then used as a directory darkhf.com/i647_p3

That is the login panel.

Darkhf.com/i647_p2 redirects this thread, using hints such as "too wet" which was the front starting of every line, you get that. When you're too wet you're in? Water

Using the hints "too wet" the login was "water"
That gets you to step X

Step x.

Darkhf.com/x

Inspect element = "so close" I took this as a hint as went to /y

That redirected to a text saying the login, logging into that you'll find it tells you "I'm dark, get me"

Well, in the url you have to get it.

Darkhf.com/i647_p3/step404.php?me=dark

All spots are filled so do not PM razor

It was rather easier because I had found all of razors sites (hehe sorry for doxing you razor, thought the login would be your name) and found one that had the same default page and just compared the two.

He hid it well and I can't wait for level 2 ?

Never thought this group was going anywhere with your way of recruitment vs. the description you out for your group and how prestigious and whatnot the members were to be. Yet anyone that could solve a riddle could join. Just didn't make sense. The description to me was just a lie to bring interest to people. I figured it's either be another lounge group, a money maker for you, or both.

Money Maker = You use the group to brand products but don't really do anything else with the group.

Money Maker = You use the group to brand products but don't really do anything else with the group.

Yet no one solved it when Razor PM'd them the details to the irc.

Nor was a simple trick with combining files at all successful.

The easiest challenges we threw up were never taken, unfortunate, really.

The group was simply a bunch of friends hanging out in an IRC and rarely posting on threads in the subforum. We had products in the works, but generally never happened. We all knew how to program as well so we had some laughs.

Razor has not been on in a while. We'll see what he says when he gets back.
