Thread: Why are users afraid to get their paypal limited?

ariton - December 20, 2015, 1:53 pm

I've seen a decent amount of members trying to get VCC's to get their paypal verified, and they're afraid of their paypal getting limited. Can't you just verify it with your own credit card, bank account or whatever? Can somebody please explain this to me?

Maybe it's because they're going to use that new Paypal they're wanting to make for illegal purposes?

a lot of the people here use fake info on their paypals and stuff, and when a fake paypal gets limited, there's usually nothing you can do about it because they can't verify the identity

Because who wants a limited paypal?

Logic - December 20, 2015, 1:55 pm

Because like 85% of the members on here are either under the age of 18 (meaning they probably don't have a CC, etc.) or using multiple paypals.

Personally, I use VCCs to verify my address, because without it, I have to submit my SSN and normal address which are both blacklisted from PayPal. It just allows us to use PayPal whereas we wouldn't be able to without them.

Or some people don't like to give their real info out on the paypal an than by stuff on hf am than people on hf no their name

Two Reasons:

- Illegal Activity
- Under 18

Oh yeah, or the third reason is because they're e-whoring or doing stupid shit to earn money that'll get them in trouble with not only the law but PP's ToS.

You guys keep saying illegal activity, but isn't HF whitehat? HF is safe from phishing, carding and things like that.

That doesn't mean that people aren't doing blackhat things here.

HackForums is whitehat yet hat a Ratting section.

You think everyone that Rats, only Rats legally? No people are stealing credit cards, paypals, everything possible for money.

I would say most use fake paypals for Ewhoring, and they always get limited very quickly.

I was using mine to buy/sell gold and items for various games when they limited my main and I wasn't able to make another without having a vcc.

Very true. The socks5 feature in most Rats basically was made for that very thing.

In short, people are stupid and think they can ignore the TOS because they don't read them.
