

Forum: Hack Forums

Thread: [\[HELP\] Skype was jacked](#)

?Demon - December 24, 2015, 2:26 am

I literally woke up a few hours ago, wondering why the fuck I was logged out of Skype, but thought nothing of it.

Tried to login, over and over and over again

To no avail

So I thought maybe I just was being retarded, and was gonna try and send a password reset
Little did I know, I forgot that I signed up using some random live email that I created when I was like 10, so that's fucked.

I create a new Skype, and search my name, only to see the username is now, "jacked by " name"
//visit fuckboibootr.kkk"

He basically jacked my Skype for NO REASON and then tried advertising his shitty web-stresser?!

I don't know why he would even do this, Illthink I know who he is, but I don't even talk to him at all.

I guess I should've used a better password??

But anyway

I'd really like some help on this issue, as I have a lot of contacts on there that I need to keep, so I would really appreciate any help

Also

I can't reset the password since I used a really really old live email I forgot about

Anyway

Thanks in advance (??)

Edit:

I'm not infected, I know that for sure..

Editedit:

Sorry if this is the wrong section, but it's White Hat so I thought you guys could help me out

LividandGifted - December 24, 2015, 8:11 am

Typically you would use a recovery email account, but since you don't have the information for that, there's not much left you can do. At this point I would try to get in contact with Skype Support and provide some type of proof of account ownership.