Technically this is the only coding group, since it is replacing Divine. But unlike Divine, this will be fully run by coders, not "marketers" ?

let me know if you need real og's in the group goodluck with it though, im sure you guys will do good Looks like a nice group! It's cool how it will be full of talented coders.

Xerotic - December 24, 2015, 2:50 pm

I am excited to see what Prism brings to the community. It really looks like groups are becoming more about content and quality rather than money again. I love it.

Dr. Watson... Creating something good? Too good to be true!

Hopefully this turns out better than Debug and Divine. Best of luck.

Maxiim - December 24, 2015, 3:40 pm

Whats the goal?

Will everything be open source? Will you sell it? (Asking this since you mentioned you are not here to make money)

Will you consider accepting a member who isn't epic/leet/uber?

To share and gain knowledge. If members choose to give source's for programs away than they can. Will we sell what? (Not the group). We will be accepting members based on if they can code and their skill.

Zexo - December 24, 2015, 4:18 pm

I have a question also.

Will you be having coding lessons? And will they be free or will it be for the community?

We plan on having a student program after we have our base coders in the group.

The program will not be free. Still early stages of planning it, nothing is set in stone yet.

CS as in Computer Science?

CS has much much more stuff about how computers work, processor architecture, memory stuff, etc. It isn't just programming, although that is a part of it.

No way haha, programming is just a part of it. Computer science is a much wider and more interesting field. Coding is just writing code, but computer science covers everything from processor design to operating systems to compilers to algorithm analysis and more.

If we know someone or see someone in the coding section who would fit we start a poll in our subforum to decide if the user should be added.

Tyranus. - December 26, 2015, 12:28 pm

To clear things up, our recruitments will most likely be sector-based, and they won't last longer than 24-48 hours since we'll only be looking for 1-2 members at a time. However don't expect to see many recruitments, because we plan on keeping this group mainly invite only.

Seem to be a good group, I was once in a "Coders dedicated" group, and nothing in it was related to advanced programming. I seriously hope your is better. Continue in this way, your group look good, and I hope you'll stay for a long time stackoverflowin - January 5, 2016, 11:19 am

Most likely the most retarded group going, their morales are fucked, their members constantly lie etc. MeshCollider has had an extremely strange outlook on me, I've no idea why.

I've got Wardow telling me apparently, it's because I'm involved with stressers. Yet he's involved with distributing malware, let's see where my morale compass goes. Oh, it seems to be today that infecting innocent people's PC's is a lot worse than coding a stresser source for 12 year old Minecraft kids to use. Nice morales, Prism ?

Posts such as this in the subform about me, which is a load of bullshit:

Code He is pretty well involved into the Twitter and DDoS events, including coding of ddos tools, he might have interesting knowledge, but still doesnt fit the group.

When the fuck have I ever been involved in Twitter and DDoS events? What the actual fuck, where is this even coming from?

Code He's good at what he does, but yes, he's got a worse attitude than me and he brings Obscure with him anywhere he goes.

Apparently I'm friends with someone I hate with a passion and only have ever talked to within my PHP Skype group.

Code He is very full of himself, and I don't think that fits with the group's standards.

More bullshit. Maybe if you look at your leader MeshCollider, who is a self-proclaimed "software developer" you might have a few shits'n'gigs.

Honestly I'd stay away from this group, it's a pile of trash. By the way, these comments have been leaked from your SF by your good'ol Mr Frenchie Wardow.

Why is MeshCollider even a leader? He's not even remotely good at coding, look at this massively failed attempt on hit GitHub (P.S all of his forked shit he's added like two lines to and claimed it's his own):

<https://github.com/MeshCollider/OMC-Signature-Seller/blob/master/buysigs.php>

Great code

<https://github.com/MeshCollider/OMC-Signature-Seller/blob/master/buysigs.php#L42>

wow I just about died

<https://github.com/MeshCollider/OMC-Signature-Seller/blob/master/buysigs.php#L44>

wow an empty if block, nice.

Ah, no use of ternary, nice.

<https://github.com/MeshCollider/OMC-Signature-Seller/blob/master/buysigs.php#L48>

More laughable code

<https://github.com/MeshCollider/OMC-Signature-Seller/blob/master/buysigs.php#L68>

More retarded naming conventions

<https://github.com/MeshCollider/OMC-Signature-Seller/blob/master/buysigs.php#L124>

More empty 'if' blocks

He's using eval to execute PHP code INSIDE of a PHP script, hah.

No they make really retarded polls in their SF and 'let the members decide'. Wow, what a laughable fail of a democracy!

Prism isn't recruiting. The members actively discuss and hold polls on who they want in the group.

Stack you ever wonder the only reason they reject you cause ur so fucking arrogant? Its also why you were kicked from echo. You talk so fucking much for no fucking reason. You act as if your a fucking professional developer but your enclosed to coding for an online forum to make a couple of bucks, why dont you actually generate a nice resume, and go apply to a real company.

Its sad cause your skills are limited to langs that frankly most people dont even give a fuck about. Anyone can become a web developer within a weekend looking at how simple and well documented php is.

Not really, I hardly spend any time on HF. No actually, PHP isn't even my strongest language in fact hah.

C# - Cancer

JavaScript / jQuery - Congrats

HTML / CSS - Lol okay

Python - 2 times ??

C++ - This is also fine.
