Thread: [\[Community Alert\] Flixx| UID=1323855| Business Intimidation and Bad Business Practice](#)

Enzio - December 27, 2015, 8:34 pm

Hello everyone.

I am writing today about the user Flixx, UID = 1323855, who has recently been PMing members of the community with business intimidation tactics. He is seeking to remove competition in the ewhoring section that also sell picture packs by claiming that he has been in contact with the girls who took the pictures I am and others are selling in order to get us in legal trouble. He tells me in PM that if I do not remove my thread immediately, he will give the girls more information on how to reach me and he also claims that he will report me to any given authorities in my jurisdiction.

This is a corrupt and evil way to do business on the forums and frankly I don't think anyone could agree that it's in line with the fair market practices that we have all come to appreciate on this forum. It's simply a corrupt and horrible way to do business and at the end of the day all he is trying to do is remove competition. This is not right to me or anyone else that he has done it to.

I have linked screenshots below. Thank you.

Furthermore, his pack can be found on google...So he is ,as he likes to say it, selling "copyrighted" packs. He doesn't have contract with those girls either. He said the same thing to both of us...Coincidence isn't...

Also by reading his reps, you can see what I am saying.

Business and ewhoring? If you're ewhoring, business is not your strong point.

It doesn't matter, there's a section for it and it's allowed to be sold.

It may not be morally correct, but what Flixx is doing could be considered harassment, which is not allowed on here.

Patrick Jane - December 28, 2015, 10:11 am

This loser (Flixx) started harassing me as well in my sales thread threatening me to make a bunch of girls to file a copyright violation against me if I didn't junk my sales thread, these posts were removed by Staff though.

He mostly PM'd me about it and you can see the threatening ones in the OP.

I knew that this guy would never get away with this shit and I'm glad he didn't. What strikes me the most is that he says "It has come to OUR attention that you are selling blablabla", as if he is high up in some police department.

Either way I'm glad that Omniscient is aware of the situation now.

Aceman - December 28, 2015, 11:24 am

Hahahah what a joke, heads up for making this thread. Don't let anyone else tell you what to do.

Nex+ - December 28, 2015, 11:31 am

At least he was clever enough to try this.

Sevn Alias - December 28, 2015, 11:34 am

Fliix is a nice guy. He never scammed someone or did something wrong. I bought many things of him. So i don't know if i can believe this

What is there not to believe? He's been negged by Omni for it.

Who Soup - December 28, 2015, 11:35 am

LOL well omni put a stop to that pretty quick <https://hackforums.net/reputation.php?uid=1323855>

Pretty sure he has some kind of panel where it logs anything suspicious such as PMing the same thing to multiple people, caz omni is killer when it comes to finding the culprits of autism.

It's because someone PM'd him reporting it to him.

I'll also add that he threatened to open a community alert on me if I didn't junk my sales thread. I guess it's a tactic of his to make it less competitive for him in the marketplace.

I just find the fact funny that eWhoring has come to to this.

I don't think the section E-Whoring itself has anything to do with it, I believe that the user in question would've done it in any other section if he could've.

But yeah, it's kind of messed up that someone would go to such lengths to get sales threads removed just to get more profit.

I just found this thread and the funny thing is that you're pictures are directly taken from a blog, I will not mention the name of the website here because I have already contacted them regarding this and they will take contact with Admin. I did not threaten you or Patrick, I simply gave you a warning that it's against both the rules here on Hackforums and the law by selling/using copyrighted pictures without their approval. I gave you a friendly warning and I got punished for it, I also gave omni some proof that you're pictures are taken directly from a website which have copyright on their pictures. However they will be contacting Admin soon and this will be dealt with.

Currently I'm on my phone but I can provide people some proof here that Squalo's pictures are taken from another website with copyright protection.

This is one of the girls he have in his sales thread called Rebecca (he was stupid enough to use their real names) <https://imgur.com/UKSeZHw>

And here is Michelle <https://imgur.com/S0m82FW>

And here you have Jennifer <https://imgur.com/M0AMS9p> (she even wrote in her blog that someone have been stealing her pictures and using them on Snapchat)

As I said I'm on my phone now but I will be opening a community alert against Squalo with all proof I have saved on my computer (he will probably remove his packs from his sales thread now but I got everything saved, also sent directly to the site owner where he took his picture from)

I gave Patrick a warning because both of you were using the same pictures (he had a big pack with a lot pictures taken from that website) I did recognize these girls and gave him a warning, and then I did see that you was selling exactly the same girls from this website and I gave you a warning. I never threaten anyone to remove their thread, I simply gave you a warning that you are breaking the rules here on HF.
