Thread: How's it going pedo hunters? + advice

Napzor - December 29, 2015, 6:48 am

People might say that this doesn't belong in here, but rather in the bragging part, but i'd like to give a motivational thread to all the folks who are new to this or aren't earning much (as much).

Whoever is comfortable with it, post your earnings or provide a screenshot just to motivate these new ewhores.

Also, just to add, i see many people feeling down from people who say they paid, but don't. Think of yourself like any store you might go in. Some people come in and just watch the goods, some try them out, some ask for the prices, and some even ask you to save the item up so they might come and take it later, but don't show up. There are many people, in many moods and with many motives to lie. Don't let yourself feel down from people trying to scam you or lie to you, it's completely normal. Just work your way up, and keep your sessions long enough for motivation sakes, since it's easier (subconsciously) to think "oh i got 1 guy today" no matter how long you work, then "i worked 7 days 15 minutes each day and got nothing :(".

Cheers guys! ??

<http://prntscr.com/9jvnkg> Christmas is amazing for ewhoring, people usually dont have money, but the normal ones that usually want free pics are mostly with their families, and you are left with the big ones that are lonely and preferably rich, so they spend a whole lot on you if you are kind :D

A few months ago I wanted to order a new phone , had to spend 5 hours or more per night in order to acquire approximately 250 pounds for 5 days. I managed to achieve that but it drained me and that's why I haven't e-whored for a few months. However, I do plan on starting again in January, hopefully there are worthy customers :P

Setting a goal and a deadline will help you out and motivate you for sure, even though sometimes it depends on pure luck.

But if you tried to milk them with illustrative sexy poking so he wants more or if you gave him an excuse to ask for more money, i bet you'd earn 3-4 times the money you got from the same guys even.

Cheers!

It's not only luck, but a lot of it is skill and just plain grinding. But yeah, you are right ?

Keep it up though, just think of improvement man!

Cheers! ?
