Hey guys so I got stood up and lied to by my oldest and one of my best friends. Usually I wouldn't care but it's different this time as you will soon read.

So basically 2 years ago I moved from NSW to SA (states in Australia) i still have relatives in NSW which I see in the holidays (4 a year in AUS) and catch up with my old friends. Last holidays I didn't go back but this holidays I have. I called him and said we should chill. He said he is busy but will get back to me, 2 days later no text im like no problem I'll text him again. So he is going to NZ soon and won't be busy till he gets back (told this on the 23) im like no worries bro, talk soon. He says sure I'll call you tonight, didn't call all good I suppose. It's now te 26th and im at the movies watching Star Wars with a friend. (I asked if he wanted to chill he said he's busy) oh and who do I see there!? Him. Now I'm like okay that's fine all good... So I text him today and he said he's in NZ... Been there since Christmas aye??? It's the 29th and Ehh this just sucks.

TL;DR: old best friend said he was busy when I haven't been in the same state as him for months. Then I saw him and he said he was in a different country.

He thought I was hitting on his girlfriend like a week ago, but we cleared it up real fast.

I don't think you cleared it up as well as you think you did. I would've texted him and said "Look behind you" or something. If he's a good friend, confront him about it and he'll immediately tell you what's really wrong.

When you move on from high school to collage or diff changes in your life you will make best friends in high school , but when you move to collage most of your best friends will be gone from your daily life sure you might greet each other rarely but face the truth your new best friends in collage are more important and when you finish collage ,and travel to new place you will meet new friends a friend ship is BS
we only need friends to pass time and help each other as humans and when the common thing that connect 2 friends is gone for example collage , high school or etc that friend ship is over and you start new friend ship at that new place :D

I'm pretty sure we did, I mean she's my ex...

Like it was a stupid LMS on facebook and I said 8/10... That's literally it.

I was gonna say look behind you... But nah, I was with my friend.
