

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Deep Web discussion in Vices

R2-D2 - December 29, 2015, 11:38 am

The rules state the following:

Quote:Deepweb Discussion

Deepweb is a phrase to describe hidden websites on the internet that are often, but not always, directly related to illegal activity such as child porn, carding, hitmen, and other very illicit material. As such we're not going to allow it here. Not even the slightest discussion of the deepweb will be allowed.

In the Vices section many people talk about where they get their drugs from. (markets in the DW.) Mostly the posts use just abbreviations like dwm.

Is this against the rules or is using only short forms like dw or dwm okay?

--

If making this thread is against the rules please let me know and I will junk it asap.

reBELLYus - December 29, 2015, 11:39 am

I was wondering the same thing. I always see AB being advertised there and so on.

Auxil - December 29, 2015, 11:39 am

I believe sourcing is against the rules.

AKA posting dnm links/vendor names, etc.

Most try to keep it on the DL and stick to PM chat about it.

I just say I got it from the plug. It all goes to the same place anyways.

samsepi01 - December 29, 2015, 11:43 am

As long as they don't say any specific vendors or anything, I don't see any issue with it. Staff's call though.

ji~ - December 29, 2015, 12:36 pm

Wasn't deep web just sites that are not index by search engines (ex. private trackers) while the darknet is tor onion sites?

Satan? - December 29, 2015, 12:44 pm

I would think this is against the rules but I am not sure.

Light - December 29, 2015, 12:53 pm

(Dec 29, 2015 01:36 PM)Alucard† Wrote: CITE Wasn't deep web just sites that are not index by search engines (ex. private trackers) while the darknet is tor onion sites?

I'm almost 100% positive it's the same thing some may call it DeepWeb some may call it Darknet, I don't think it has to do with search engines at all, they both are the same thing different names.

- I'd say it's against the rules as it is still the "slightest" talk of the Dark/Deep web. But this will basically be Omniscient call on this.

CPA Exposé - December 29, 2015, 4:07 pm

(Dec 29, 2015 01:36 PM)Alucard† Wrote: CITE Wasn't deep web just sites that are not index by search engines (ex. private trackers) while the darknet is tor onion sites?

Any site can be not indexed by search engines and not be considered a deep web site.

I can make a website right now about cookies and stop it from being indexed on google.

King of Hearts - December 29, 2015, 6:01 pm

Not allowed.

Please report the posts as "Disallowed Blackhat Activity"