Is it only me, or does it happen to you too?

It's annoying when I browse HF at night at dark room, it hurts my eyes.
Can the creator please fix it?

samsepi01 - December 30, 2015, 9:25 pm

It happens to everyone, just deal with it.

BLURRYF?CE - December 30, 2015, 9:29 pm

Yes, I've been complaining about this for a long time.

This doesn't happen to me, the background is black for that split second. :)

It doesn't seem to happen to me at all, maybe just small browser issue of some sort?

I'm still experiencing this. (it's white for me) :/

Nakamoto. - December 30, 2015, 10:16 pm

I have never experienced that, but at one point didn't Omni say it had something to do with the securi firewall?

Do you have the friendly redirect activated here : <https://hackforums.net/usercp.php?action=options>

woahxx - December 31, 2015, 2:00 am

Yes, it kinda "flashes" but it doesnt bother me.

BoyInWhite - December 31, 2015, 2:12 am

Doesn't happen to me thank goodness

DuguWudi - December 31, 2015, 5:12 am

Hmmm you see white flashes but me these few days see this mesage below on a white background.

I have never experienced this issue before. Interesting.

Dripping - January 1, 2016, 12:34 am

Never experienced this either.

Page loads in 0.1 seconds, no issues at all.

You are likely triggering the firewall due to multiple tabs loading at once.

As for this white flash...likely depends on your browser and how you view HF. Because as you can see from responses most users don't experience this. I view HF from 4 browsers and I've never had a flashing white page ever. Could be your connection has a bit of latency causing the browser to white page long enough for it to feel like a flashing page. Since HF is a dark background it would appear flashing because default empty browser pages are white. Something you might be able to configure yourself depending on your browser.

Also, OP, we don't allow multiple accounts. Bye.
