What did your lineup score tonight?

Doggers - January 27, 2016, 12:39 am hmmm so to understand this - we pay you the fee and then on a day of an event you tell us how to bet - am I understanding this right?

Also, if we decide to purchase the 1 day trial - what day is it going to be? next or we choose?

Exactly. Also you can choose whichever day you wish, though most customers purchase it for the same day or the next day.

also do we choose for which sport we want to use your service for? or how would that work?

I am totally new to draft kings - after I familiarize myself with how the system works , will give you a shot.

Also, is one day better than the other, especially if we want to get a good first impression?

Sounds good! If you don't have an account if you sign up under my referral (or anyone elses for that matter), you'll get $25 for free.

I would say it depends. Tomorrow for example is a big slate, so lots of options but also a lot of standard value options have tougher matchups.
