Thread: [\[RESULTS\] \[Specialists and Legends\] Mega Christmas Giveaway || SEE WHAT YOU WON!!](#)

Raymond Reddington - January 4, 2016, 10:12 am

?? RESULTS - Specialists and Legends Mega Christmas Giveaway ??

Video Proof -

[Video: <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=ogGTckVENmY>]

Sorry for the blur video! The capture format had some issues. However, to maintain the fairness, we have used stronger algorithms and have pressed the "Random" button ten (10) times. ?

Below you can find the download link for an Excel file that contains the Winner's list with Prizes! ??

[\[img\]http://s17.postimg.org/m4uvgw8rz/download_button1.png\[/img\]](http://s17.postimg.org/m4uvgw8rz/download_button1.png)

Note - Things you need to know before opening the excel file -

Spoiler \(Click to View\)

1. The excel file has 6 columns. Namely -
 - Post Number - Contains the winner post and in some cases you will see "xxx >>> yyy" (this is for Award transfer cases explained later).
 - Post Link - Contains the post link that won.
 - Winner Name - Winner UID.
 - Prize - No explanation required ?
 - Remarks - This will be explained in point 2.
 - Detailed Remarks - Detailed remarks will go here to explain things better.
2. Remarks column has a drop down with 4 choices -
 - Awards Mentioned - Where in a user has got an Award he opted for.
 - Award Not Available - Award opted was not left; random award was given to the winner.
 - Award Transfer - There are total 18 posts in this category. In these cases the award was transferred to the "Next Valid Post", as these posts were either from the contest organizers, or winners accounts has been closed, or the post was not the first post of the original user that won!
 - No Award Mentioned - No Award was mentioned in the post, so a random award was given to the winner.
3. In "Award Transfer" cases, post number is written as XXX >>> YYY. Here XXX is the original post number selected randomly and YYY is the Next Valid Post that won. Secondly, in the "Detailed Remarks" column, we have tried to maintain the history of the post that was randomly selected; the format of the same is - Original Post Number , Original Post Link , Original UID , Reason for the Award Transfer.

In case, you still have some doubts, please feel free to revert!

Conclusion :-

We have tried our best to be as random as possible in distributing awards and making sure most of you get it. However, if there is some mistake from our end, we apologies for it. The award list was huge and we had limited support and time in our hands and we tried our best. All 150 members will be Pmed my their respective award distributors and we will make sure no one is left out on the list. However if you are missed, please PM me {Raymond} and I will make sure you get what you have won.

A huge thanks to BTB™ for his endless support. He made the entire excel sheet and helped me a lot in distribution of these crazy prizes. I couldn't have done it alone. Thanks man.

To be honest, I barely even know what DNS is, so I don't wish to waste your time or resources with the prize that I won. I entered for a different award and due to the large amount of winners someone else won it before me :)

Thank you very much for this regardless Armada and thank you to Specialists and Legends for holding the contest.

\\EDIT

How exactly did you determine this BTW, I am curious??
Will try to explain the stuff in brief -

After randomizing all the numbers (10 times), we have selected the top 150 numbers. The same can be seen in the video.

Then I saw each post (order wise) and allotted them the prize they opted for. (wherever the prize was mentioned and available).

After the first round filtering, I was left with these three options -

1. Award was mentioned, but the stock was over.
2. No award was mentioned in the post.
3. Invalid posts, post by organizers or closed accounts.

Keeping "Point 1" (above) as the first priority, random awards were assigned to them.

Then took care of the posts where no award was mentioned, and random award distribution was done here too.

Lastly, identified the 'next valid post' for the entries that are either invalid posts, post by organizers and closed accounts and gave the remaining awards to them.

Any other option was not possible for such a huge list.

And about the excel file, all the details are mentioned in the Spoiler (in the original post by Raymond).

So, transparency at its best. ?

Granted, I see you were very open about the contest, kudos for that, but I got a few people in my winners list who simply have zero interest, or they were after a monetary prize.

Why assign them a prize they wont use, I guess is what I am really getting at here?

BTB™ - January 5, 2016, 6:14 am

I know some people would have got a prize that is of no use or you can say it's a premium thing, but unfortunately they would not use it!

But at the same time, when we have this big list for the Awards, asking each and every person about their choice from the remaining awards would be impractical and would rather create a mess.

Even this already decided Award distribution is pretty tedious, so you can very well imagine the confusion that 'asking your choice part' would have created.

Believe me, only after a long discussion, we arrived at this solution!

We may have made some people happy and unfortunately some of them would not be satisfied. However, we tried our best! ?

I entered for a different item but in the end I won a crypter license. Thanks for the win :)

Do I need to do anything to claim the item?

So yea, which ones are the prizes for wearing the sig btw?

Raymond Reddington - January 13, 2016, 8:44 pm

Its been over 1 week now and I believe all prizes have been handed out by our responsible members. In case you have been missed, feel free to PM me and I will sort it out for you.
