Thread: Be on TV as a hacker

Omniscient - February 13, 2009, 4:31 pm

I have a proposal from G4 where they are looking to do a segment on hackers. They want people willing to be on camera and are at least 21 years of age.

If you feel you fit this description please PM me. They are willing to keep identities secret.

I will not recommend you unless you are an active member here with a solid reputation. My reputation and that of HF is on the line here as well.

Thank you.

DigiDeveloper - February 13, 2009, 4:40 pm

are there any perks to doing the filmography other then sum airtime ? , and what exactly are they looking for ?

Omniscient - February 13, 2009, 4:53 pm

I am working on getting more details from the shows producer.

They plan to shoot in March. I am not sure how they will be filming though. G4 normally does in-studio shooting but we will see.

I will disclose the needed info as time goes on. I might even volunteer myself. It depends really on what they want to discuss. Since I am not black-hat I may not be what they are looking for.

Blackred - February 13, 2009, 5:06 pm

Sweet to bad I am too young....and not enough experince but what type of hacker are you ????? I am a grey-hat.....

Fallen - February 13, 2009, 5:07 pm

I watch G4 constantly, wish I could volunteer even though I doubt I would get picked but being a quite a few years under 21 doesnt matter, zero chance >_____<

plus being white hat wouldnt really help much either >_____>

TO LEGiIT - February 13, 2009, 5:08 pm

lol

omni is getting hooked up

more people will prolly come to hf after that but i couldnt do it cause im only 14

thedankestmeme - February 13, 2009, 5:12 pm

Good luck trying to find people 21+ that aren't trying to hack their girlfriends myspace

Bsdpunk should do it, would be sooooo winnnnn

He actually would be perfect for it imho

Over 21 and actually knows something; not camera shy as you can tell from his youtube/blog and has a Lego robot named Spike thats controlled from a perl bot that hangs on the irc that sends commands via bluetooth from his mac to the robot, what more could a network like G4 want?

Zenko - February 13, 2009, 5:22 pm

Hmmm Never Seen Omni's Face, I Wana See You On T.V.

Jimmyg22 - February 13, 2009, 5:22 pm

Also, I would like bsdpunk to go^^

Jimmyg22 - February 13, 2009, 5:30 pm

i also nominate bsdpunk ?

DigiDeveloper - February 13, 2009, 5:42 pm

yea bsd has my vote , he could show them his bot and the uses of it in multiple environments :) , and also get the start of uber rap or w/e on the air muahahahahaha

KING-T - February 13, 2009, 5:44 pm

It'e weird that they wouldn't want any kids on there. Just to show that kids hack or something idk. As long as they don't fuck up on camera lol. But yeah it sucks I'm 2 young =(

DigiDeveloper - February 13, 2009, 5:47 pm

they dont want kids because that would be a liability , as kids cant make there own legal decisions and to be on tv im sure they have a small pile of disclaimers for you to sign legally..... this is probably why, also minors cant be on camera in certain states.

however what im wondering is are they looking for people to show how to use exploits for common hacks , or explanations on theory or why we do what we do , is this tv show highlighting white lite views or dark in the shadows methodology ? , i'm not signing up or anything , just became very interested in the theory behind this... and cant wait to see the final product :)

Majority of people under 21 or 18 and on a forum like this will be some 12 yr old kid yelling leetspeek irl making batch viruses that consist of opening youtube and formatting C:\ >_> So I don't blame them tbh

TUXicSkillz - February 13, 2009, 5:52 pm

does anyone know if this will be like a series or a one time premier or what? , any extra information would be gratefully appreciated Omni :) and gratz on getting this opportunity :) this is a nice step in the right direction for you man :D im proud of it

taxx - February 13, 2009, 6:01 pm

This seems really interesting, I'd like to see the show online if possible. Perhaps we might want to ask if HF can have the rights to post the show so that we can all see it. Or even as a torrent maybe.

Omniscient - February 13, 2009, 6:28 pm

I am trying to gain more information. It's obvious why they don't want to interview kids so don't say stupid shit.

TodesKrieger - February 13, 2009, 6:35 pm

I thought that there was a guy that used to be in CDC on this forum somewhere? Why doesn't someone try and ask him?

Dismal. - February 13, 2009, 7:01 pm

Oh god... i cant wait to see this... if this happens post some youtube videos...

DigiDeveloper - February 13, 2009, 7:26 pm

if i tell you i did something illegal with hacking you cant arrest me.?

'Teh Invision Power Board Pwnz0r!'

I doubt it, unless its a segment on skiddies

Back on to maturity, "Vote SnIpEr for the Flamer award!" are you joking? Flamers are annoying and pointless E-Thugs trying to be someone while they well, arent getting anywhere, does G4 really want that?

Also just look at your quote, I know 10 year olds who are much more mature. Take a double take and stop kidding yourself

Also most here are pretending to really know much more then searching on Milw0rm for old exploits, or have an obscured view of what a hacker of any color hat really is.

I would love to participate in this program. But again, I am not 21.

I think whoever is making this hacker program should interview some intelligent minors. People that actually understand how TCP/IP and the Internet works; understand how an exploit functions.

By the way, I think that Simon should be invited to appear on this show. He's extremely intelligent, and is a professional White Hat Hacker working in the Information Security industry. Out of everyone on HF, I think Simon has the most credibility to be on this documentary.

Hopefully, if the show contains intelligent individuals who work in the Information Security industry, it will enlighten the average person that not all Hackers are high-tech master criminals who study the arcane arts of breaking a network.

It would enlightening to see someone with such knowledge to be on mainstream t.v

Yes, Bsdpunk, Omni, or Simon would be perfect for the job in my opinion. As we know all three are very knowledgeable in different fields, Omni ofc a professional webmaster, also a great php scripter; Simon being a professional white hat pen tester, and Bsdpunk knowing much about the actual culture and in depth coding as well with his other various networking skills. I think he represents the community and the culture perfectly and would be my top pick.

Just my two sense ^^

Okay I am speaking with the producer on Monday. I have their phone number and they want to discuss this further. So I will be getting more info next week. Please be patient and let's not fill this thread up with spammy useless posts.

Hey I'm 31 I can do it, but I probably would be terrible for the segment because Im new here (joined like 3 days ago and still am getting used to this forum) & only got 1 rep point for being a girl (good reason for getting a point right?). I'm not that great at hacking but I keep learning and soon will hack the universe. And my identity would need to be concealed because I'm highly recognizable with my pink hair. ? Omni this segment thing is pretty cool, it's a shame most members are barely hitting puberty and cant participate.

More female Hackers/Programmers are necessary. As to show the other girls Hacking/Programming is not for 'Nerds' or 'Geeks'.

G4 has quite a few female associates which are all classified as nerds and geeks and are all hot as hell, so G4 is doing its part

The chick who does cheat and x-play is a babe

stealth_eclipse - February 15, 2009, 6:51 pm

I think it should be more over the scene and what a hacker is not a person who is breakin in and stealin back accounts but some one who edjucated on computers and that most threats are skiddies. Could be a good show if done right

Goku - February 15, 2009, 7:11 pm

haha, don't think i'll be able to volunteer. being in japan is such a bummer, so is not knowing how to hack :P

Jimmyg22 - February 15, 2009, 8:29 pm

idk, you could stream it. also it would be very educational for people to learn how to kill themselves with their own security programs ? ?

Goku - February 15, 2009, 9:25 pm

yeah....thanks...?

Hey, Psinetic, if you want a great guide on computer and network security that teaches you how to hack from start to finish, I highly recommend reading the highly acknowledged Hacking Exposed Fifth (or the newer sixth) edition. I'm currently reading it and its a wealth of useful information. I'm even creating my own exams for each chapter so the techniques I learn are transferred into my long term memory. ?

[censored] Security is like L33T but is to young...

CeilingCat - July 10, 2010, 6:51 pm

Seriously, I want to know what happened now. Lol.

Kaleb - July 10, 2010, 6:52 pm

If they want any 13 year olds you got one right here (win?).

Omniscient - July 10, 2010, 6:58 pm

This is very old and no longer active. I don't know what came out of this.
