Thread: Add Notes Beside Textbox When Private Messaging

Gørilla - January 6, 2016, 5:20 pm

I was thinking, and I noticed I have to have 2-3 tabs of HF open when replying to multiple sales threads with a pre-written response with a download link included. So here's my idea.

Basically you would add the notes section just a more thin version right beside the text box. It would just show your notes here so you wouldn't have to keep opening new tabs.

Just a thought. Hate it, love it, just a thought!

You could do that with an userscript, I highly doubt it will get implemented.

Why not just copy and paste? Or make your own notepad on your desktop with notes inside?

I think this may require core edits to MyBB to accomplish something like this, which won't be done since there are already so many core edits and Omniscient doesn't want to do.

I'd personally would love something like this, or at-least something you can do canned responses with - But I'm pretty sure a userscript could accomplish that and as Roger says, if it requires core edits then this might not be done.

This would be cool but I doubt it will happen.

By the way OP: You have two Facebook bookmarks. That would annoy the crap out of me!

Sakuto - January 6, 2016, 5:37 pm

I could maybe add this to my userscript, but you want to left note for each MP? That's not really hard to implement (:

aleximo - January 6, 2016, 5:40 pm

it should be an option like u can allow it to be there or not. Because ppl might get distracted or what ever haha

Oh, I've never messed with MyBB or anything like that so I have no clue haha. I thought it would just be a simple transfer or something. Would be cool though!

This can be done easily with a user-created script, though I don't understand why you don't just have a .txt document with your text which you can copy/paste when you please? Would make your life a lot more easier.

yah and if you really that OCD like my, just reduce window sizes so that you dont have to keep clicking it, I got my notepad + browser + skype open all at once (resized windows)...it's a lot more productive.

Windows Sticky Notes....

I use that shizzle all the time for this kinda crap.

Also, did the Proxyscraper with Darknetwork turn out well?

CounterFun - January 7, 2016, 5:13 pm

This would be a cool idea.

You can always just download a program that holds all of your prewritten messages. They supply one at this site I use for malware removal, comes in handy.

Just use notepad. OneNote also has a quicknote feature that might be useful to you. Make your browser window smaller if you need space, the lines are too wide for optimal reading if you have it maximized anyway.

I feel like it'd be easier for one, and keep the page simple.

Closing thread. Thanks for the input guys!
