Thread: Why TRADING customers makes 0 SENSE.

Why do people trade customers?

Why not make a new eWhore and eWhore all of your old customers all at once.

You know what they like, you know what they wanted?

It doesn't make sense to trade customers who you know NOTHING about?

Someone please reply if you disagree or even if you agree!

I agree, sick of seeing these trading customer shit.

I was curious to know how much people would trade though? hahaha

I wouldnt. I would just create new profiles and milk these men.

How do you even know that you are getting actual customers in return? It just sounds like a scam to me.

Kelsaa - January 8, 2016, 6:31 pm

Thank you. I was tired of seing those threads.

Helping people sometimes with customers is okay, but I don't see the point of trading trying to make more benefit. You can just create as many ewhore accounts and milk them. The only explanation I see is people trying to trade fake paying customers hoping to get legit ones in return.

It doesn't make sense, that's exactly why people throw away fake "well-paying" customers who are claimed to have sent a lot of money at one point.

Finally someone said it! I think someone who wants to trade customers just sends timewaster or is retarded and scams a customer and wants to trade foe another customer he will scam. Noob ewhores...

Agree'd nice way of making more money off of the same customer.
